Walther League Convention Opens

Lutheran Organization of New England District In Session at Immanuel Church—League Objects Explained and Charity Work Reviewed—Visitors Praise Kingston Hospitality.

The New England District of the Walther League, comprising 30 societies of churches affiliated with the Synodical Conference of the Lutheran Church in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut and Kingston, opened its twenty-fifth convention in Immanuel Lutheran Church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with a short devotional service conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. T. Schroeder. William Buddenhagen, Jr., president of the local society, extended the welcome of the Kingston society and church to which the Rev. H. L. Steup of Holyoke, Mass., responded. The report of the committee on credentials showed 20 senior and two junior societies represented by 28 delegates. The reports of the various officers and standing committees were read and referred to the committee on resolutions. Action on the recommendations in these reports will be taken in the course of the convention.

One of the most encouraging reports was given by the Rev. E. P. Merkel of Waterbury, Conn., the district chairman of Hospice Work. The Walther League Hospice organization consists of a program of Lutheran Travelers Welfare Work, through which the young people's societies seek to aid the Lutheran traveler in every community and of Hospice System or chain of Christian homes, which are operated in various cities for the accommodation of Lutheran travelers. The Walther League through its executive board employs an International Hospice secretary who is in charge of this department. Each of the 37 districts has a hospice committee which supervises the work of this district and each local has its secretary who takes care of the Travelers Welfare work in the congregation. This work has shown a marked increase during the past year and the district committee was given a rising vote of thanks.

Prof. E. H. Engelbrecht, instructor in Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ills., international field secretary of the Walther League and representative of the International board, was then introduced by the president, H. F. Browske. He spoke in part as follows:

The International Walther League of the Lutheran Synodical Conference is an organization of Lutheran Young People's Societies. It numbers at present 1,500 societies in the U. S. and Canada. There are also Walther League societies in South America and Australia. The "Jugendbund," a Young People's organization of the Lutheran Church of Germany, is also affiliated with the Walther League. The principal object of the Walther League is to keep the young people who have been brought up in the Lutheran Church with that church. The activities of the League are Bible study, educational work, including the history of the various activities and endeavors of the Lutheran Church, such as mission work, charities, etc. The object of the educational work of the League is to create in the young Lutherans a strong Lutheran consciousness. If our young Lutherans realize the importance of their church and if they are thoroughly acquainted with its doctrines, its principles, its history, and its work, they will not hesitate to tell others about their Lutheran Church and thus become missionaries among the unchurched of their community. One of the activities which are sponsored by the League is the systematic mission endeavor. The young people are encouraged and urged to offer their services to their home church as canvassers and missionaries in their communities with the object of increasing attendance at Sunday school, Christian day school and church. Some societies have done very excellent work in this mission endeavor.

The Walther League also urges its societies to support Lutheran missionaries in foreign lands. During the past year fourteen missionaries in China and India were supported by the League. The charity work of the League has been directed toward the Sanitarium for consumptives at Wheatridge, Colo., for which $[illegible] were raised by the societies and for the charity fund of which Christmas seals to the amount of $[illegible] annually are sold by the societies of the League. After the war 150 tons of clothing and $[illegible] in cash were sent to Europe. A number of students for the ministry are being supported by the League.

The headquarters of the League are in Chicago. From there the various activities of the League are directed.

An offering was taken on the floor of the convention. The convention service was held at 7:30 p. m. The young people entered the church in a body and took seats reserved for them in the center of the church. The Rev. R. B. Steup of East Dedham, Mass., preached an inspiring sermon urging the Leaguers to renewed activity and greater consecration. The offerings of the convention for various purposes so far counted to $200. The visitors are loud in their praises of the well-known Kingston hospitality which is in much in evidence.

Four Senators Will Know Fate

Washington, Sept. 6 (AP).—The political fate of four Republican United States senators hangs in the balance in primary elections to be held in widely separated regions of the country tomorrow—the first Tuesday in September.

The four are: Irvine L. Lenroot, Wisconsin; George H. Moses, New Hampshire. Tasker I. Oddie, Nevada; Ralph H. Cameron, Arizona.

Perhaps the greatest interest centers in the Wisconson contest, where Senator Lenroot, laeder of the administration's successful fight for American adhesion to the world court, is opposed for re-nomination by Governor John J. Blaine and the forces under the LaFollette banner. In the forefront of the battle against Senator Lenroot has been his colleague, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., who has criticized Senator Lenroot's stand upon the world court and other questions.

The New Hampshire contest of Senator Moses for renomination has been featured by the charge of his principal opponent, former Governor Robert H. Bass, that his campaign headquarters have been broken into and several documents stolen. Former Governor Bass has charged that Senator Moses has been out of sympathy with the Coolidge administration.

Senator Oddie in Nevada is opposed by former Representative Edward Roberts, father-in-law of Walter Johnson, premier pitcher of the Washington-American League baseball team.

Senator Cameron is unopposed in Arizona for the Republican nomination but in the general election will be opposed by Representative Carl Hayden or Charles Rutherford, Phoenix lawyer, who contest tomorrow for the Democratic nomination.

Musicians Will Picket Theatre

Local police headquarters were notified on Sunday that the Musicians' Union would have pickets from New York city on duty in front of the Orpheum Theatre on lower Broadway today. It was stated that the local theatre was engaging non-union musicians which was the reason for picketing the theatre. It was stated that the pickets would make it a point to stop every one entering the theatre, asking them not to patronize it until they employed union musicians.

The picketing of the local garment factories is still in force by picketers from New York city in charge of Organizer M. Balufkin, but no disorder has been reported to the police. The picketers at the garment factories have no connection with the picketers from the Musicians' Union.

Union Workers At Two Theatres

No union trouble is expected at either the Auditorium on Pine Grove avenue or Reade's Kingston Theatre on Wall street, as both theatres employ all union labor, including musicians, stage hands and movie picture operators, and are what is known as union houses. The manager of Reade's Theatre stated he had signed a contract for union workers on Saturday.

YOUNG NEGRO SHOOTS WIFE AND THEN SHOOTS SELF.

Raging at her repeated refusals to return to his bed and board, Richard Bruin, 21 years old, a negro farm hand of Sunny Ridge Farm, near Rock Tavern, fired three shots at his wife and baby boy on Thursday. Then, apparently believing them dead, he turned the revolver on his temple. He died within an hour. The wife is reported as probably dying in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, with a bullet wound in each breast as well as a hole in the left hand, received as she tried to protect the baby which she held in her arms. The child was unhurt.

Believes League Will Win Out

Dr. Benes Predicts Final Victory for League of Nations in Opening Address at Seventh Assembly of League.

Geneva, Sept. 6 (AP).—The seventh assembly of the League of Nations was opened today under the presidency of Dr. Eduard Benes, Czecho Slovakian foreign minister, who began the proceedings with an address.

After the usual formalities and the appointment of a committee on credentials, the assembly adjourned until 430 p. m.

Senor Anciso, of Argentina, sat at the desk reserved for the Argentine delegation since it left the first assembly in 1920.

In his opening address as temporary chairman, Dr. Benes said the league was confronted with obstacles but that the work accomplished in the last year constituted a step forward in the evolution of Europe. It proved that the league's policies would lead to progressive and rapid improvement in world conditions. He predicted a final victory for the league, though at the cost of great sacrifices.

Referring to the disarmament discussions, Mr. Benes said that question could not be solved now in its entirety, but he thought the goal was appreciably nearer, with efforts directed to an international agreement for limitation of preparation for war.

Admitting the possibility that the entry of Germany might result in the departure of both Spain and Brazil, he appealed to both countries not to abandon their collaboration with the league.

PRISONERS USED SAFETY RAZOR BLADES IN ESCAPE.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 5 (AP).—A new use for old safety razor blades was discovered by fourteen prisoners at the Sullivan county jail at Blountville, Tenn., when they utilized one of the discarded pieces of steel to dig their way out of confinement. Only two of them had been recaptured early today.

With bte blade they cut two bars of their third story cage and removed two pieces about a foot long. They crawled into the corridors, dug a hole in the wall with the iron bars, and slid to the ground on bed clothes they had tied together.

The jailer on the first floor heard the fourteenth man hit the ground. He ran out and captured him, but the others escaped into a near woodland.

A reporter, sent to the scene to investigate, captured one of the men along the Bristol-Blountville highway, when the prisoner hailed the newspaper man and asked for a ride.

Thirty-eight injured were in the Denver and Rio Grande Hospital here.

The accident occurred on a sharp curve nine miles below Granite when the giant mogul engine, pulling a train of 14 cars, was derailed, plunged into the Arkansas river and carried five coaches with it. Motorists passing near the scene of the wreck along the Pike's Peak ocean-to-ocean highway, gave what assistance they could before the arrival of the relief train.

Rescue workers, equipped with acetylene torches, removed many of the dead and injured from the twisted wreckage.

Denver and Rio Grande western officials said the train was on time and was proceeding at its normal speed or slightly less when the accident occurred. Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHANGING FACES

Melly was very tired of her face.

She used to make-believe sometimes that the next time she looked in the glass she would see another face there.

Of course she wanted the other face to belong to her. She did not want it to belong to someone who might be standing beside her.

She just thought it would be so nice and such a pleasant change to have a new face.

She thought: If only one could change faces the way one changed hats.

For instance in the springtime she would choose a face that was very pretty and dainty. She would have golden curls about her face and they would blow a little in the breeze but not so that they became stringy or untidy looking.

Her face in the spring would have a faint, pretty pink-and-white color.

In the summer she would choose a face that was more like the month of August. It would be almost a golden face.

The hair would be flaxen in color and the face would be sunburned but a rich, beautiful sunburn, all smooth and even and glowing.

There would be no freckles on such a face, and no violent red sunburn in one place and pale in another. It would be an even face.

In the autumn she would choose a face with auburn-brown hair about it and coloring that was like the red of a wonderful apple.

In the winter she would choose a face with black hair, and upon such hair she would wear a snow-white, fluffy skating cap. Such hair would never blow down and around untidly but would look soft and smooth.

Always the Same.

And the face that went with that hair would be something like the autumn face only without any sunburn at all, and only a bright, smooth, vivid color.

Those were the faces she would choose if she had her way.

She was so very tired of her own face. Everytime she got dressed or looked at herself it was always the same.

It wasn't an ugly face, but it wasn't a beautiful face.

It wasn't even pretty.

It was the kind of a face that people just had—without any special reason, thought Melly.

Sometimes she thought it would be nice, too, to be able to get new expressions to go with faces, just as one got new ribbons to put on old hats.

For instance, one day she could choose a sad and mournful and interesting expression and another day she could choose a bright and sparkling expression.

But one night she had a dream and she had a new and lovely face.

Oh, what a lovely face it was. But no one recognized her. Every one refused to believe that it was Melly. They said it couldn't be for it hadn't Melly's dear eyes and Melly's funny, big mouth, or her soft, pretty, untidy hair, and that it just wasn't Melly.

She was miserable trying to tell them that she had got a new face.

It didn't seem to mean anything at all. They didn't look at her as they had always looked at her before.

And then she had her own face again, and they looked at her as they always had. It seemed that they loved her face as it was.

Strenuous World's Work

Our young hopeful came running into the house. His suit was dusty, and there was a bump on his small brow, but a gleam was in his eye, and he held out a baby tooth.

"How did you pull it?" demanded his mother.

"Oh," he said bravely, "it was easy enough. I just fell down and the whole world came up and pushed it out."

Not the Giving Kind

Teacher—Why, Jimmie, is it true that your mother has diphtheria?

Jimmie—Yes, ma'am.

Teacher—But don't you know you mustn't come to school? You might get it from your mother and then give it to the whole class.

Jimmie—No, ma'am; it's only my stepmother, an' she never gives me nothin'."

An old fashioned daddy says boys are sent to college now to learn to "kick" and when they get out no jackass can beat 'em at it.

The term "flapper" when speaking of a modern girl has taken a back seat in favor of "radio girl"—you can pick her up anywhere.

The snob is ashamed of his folks and everybody else is ashamed of him.

It takes no special training to learn how to nurse a grievance.

"My dear, I think I shall spend the night at my sister's," came his wife's voice over the telephone. "Do you care?"

"Not at all," he replied, heartily. "Then, I had better take the first train home," she decided.

"Why is Smith taking deep-sea diving lessons?"

"He is going to Florida this winter to look at some land he bought from a friend of his."

"Too much dancing, irregular hours, and too little exercise impair the health of many college women," declares college professor. But, professor, since when has the Charleston ceased to be exercise?

A La Can-Openers.

In days of old when knights were bold
Two loved a maid whose heart was cold.
They met and had a long palavar
And just to see which one would have her,
They held a hard-boiled fencing bout
And tried to cut each other out.

Marriage, said the philosopher, is like a railroad sign. When you see a pretty girl you stop; then you look, and after you're married you listen.

In parts of Persia the father sells his daughter in marriage, the price being 100 sheep. In America all he gets is your goat.

The wild west is that way only in the movies.

Young Husband—Last night when I got home my wife had my chair drawn up before the fire, my slippers ready for me to put on, my pipe all filled and—

Old Friend—How did you like her new hat.

The young daughter wanted to practice at baking while the mother took a drive. Upon her return, the mother found every bowl in the house had been used and all were standing in a row on the kitchen table, ready for washing. Upon inquiry, the embryo cook explained, "Well, the receipt said to beat eight eggs separately."

We wouldn't mind how often our neighbors fed their player piano if they'd change its diet once in a while.

Man is somewhat like the sausage—
Very smooth upon the skin;
But you can't tell just exactly
How much hog there is within.

"Why do you punch that hole in my ticket?" asked the man of the railroad official.

"So you can pass through," was the reply.

If a man has a poor memory, he should stick to the truth.

A woman doesn't always get the last word—Sometimes she is talking to another woman.

Early Suspension Bridges

James Finley of Fayette county, Pa., erected chain cable suspension bridges as early as 1797. He patented his improvements in 1808, and two years later there were eight of these bridges in America.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press.)

New York—Gentlemen must prefer young twin blondes in placing laurels. For the lastest swimming feat Phyllis and Bernice Zitenfield, 12 years, 5 feet 4, 130 pounds, swam from Yonkers to the battery in the Hudson, past the whole of New York, a total of 17 miles. They were greased like channel swimmers, which they hope to emulate next year.

Deal, England—Trudie and Mrs. Corson will race across the channel next year. Mrs. Corson has accepted a challenge.

Montreal—Among the 26 left behind when Mrs. Ella Sullivan of Holyoke, Mass., won a 30-mile swim was Omer Perrault, mere man who has done a helmy several times in essaying the channel.

Dover, England—A man needs more than a Victoria cross to swim the channel. Colonel B. C. Freyberg is the latest of his sex to fail.

San Pedro, Cal—John Radowich may not have swimming feats to his credit, but he is a good sailmaker in Uncle Sam's navy, which is run by steam. John had to give up in trying to swim 20 miles to Santa Catalina Island.

Biggleswade, England — The Prince of Wales is a chicken fancier. He has won three prizes at a poultry show.

Agents Stage Big Liquor Raid

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Thirty-three federal prohibition agents, state and local officers, rum-runners, bootleggers and distillers and 17 stills, 24,400 gallons of beer 865 gallons of whiskey and five automobile liquor transports were taken in a series of raids on the "hell's hole" district of South Carolina Saturday night and Sunday by federal agents of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

The raids were engineered by M. C. Dunning, co-ordinator for the southeast, who with dozens of "under cover" prohibition agents, swooped down on the Charleston and Berkeley county flats without firing a shot.

Yesterday, churches in the vicinity offered prayers of thanksgiving at the news of the liquor raids.

Mr. Dunning started preparations for the raid Thursday at Savannah Ga., where he gathered thirty agents aboard the coast guard cutter Yamacraw. Proceeding to Charleston, the men were despatches in groups of twos and threes with written instructions.

Today, the federal prohibition agents and the state and local officers caught in the net face charges of bribery, protection of rum-runners or distillers and conspiracy to violate the prohibition act.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

The program at the Orpheum this evening will be made up of several vaudeville acts and the feature picture "Parisian Love."

"The Black Pirate" with Douglas Fairbanks will be the feature at the Auditorium Theatre all this week.

MUSSOLINI GIVES 5,000 LIRE FOR ITALIAN FILM

Rome, Sept. 6 (AP) — Premier Mussolini has contributed 5,000 lire toward a prize for the production of a contemporary Italian film intended to stimulate the national motion picture industry and drive out American productions.

In a letter accompanying the contribution, the Premier wrote: "This art in the past has been the source of riches and fame to the country. Here, as elsewhere, Italy must reaffirm her new energies."

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

Members of the W. C. T. U. are requested to meet at the home of Mrs. A. J. Keefe, 231 Washington avenue, on Tuesday afternoon. Plans for the county convention, which will be held in the St. James M. E. Church on September 14, will be outlined at this time.

Redeemer Societies To Meet.

Owing to the rain the business meeting scheduled to be held at Forsyth Park by the Men's Club and the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will be held in the Sunday school rooms, corner of Wurts and Rogers street.

How to Meet a Lion

Lions have a greater fear of man than many realize. According to Mr. J. Harwood Dumont, the well-known big-game hunter, the "king of the forest," if you stand your ground will often stop and look meaningly at you, growling all the while; some lions will even turn tail and bolt after lashing. You want to be very cool in the presence of a lion and never show you have any fear. As to hearts, it will come as news to most people that "it is possible to strangle a leopard if you get a firm grip of the throat from behind so that he cannot claw you." Mr. Dumont says the mouth or of Canada, upon creating danger, form a line facing their foe as quickly as would a regiment of soldiers, and here they stand ready for an attack.

Paris Has Been Showing Apparel Designed for Later Wear.

Recently the Paris modistes have been showing gowns which may be worn in the late summer and in the early autumn.

Special exhibits of such types of dresses have been arranged for the women who expect to linger late at fashionable seaside resorts or who want the gowns for teas and for dinner-dances at the country club.

Most of the models shown consist of the more formal costume, appropriate for the garden party or the dinner-dance.

Although designed for hot days and for Indian summer, many of these outfits are of such a style that they will continue in vogue during the winter.

The modiste still cherishes the secrets of her winter trade, and is saving them to show at her winter opening, a few weeks hence. But she also desires to cater to her American customers, and many of these are leaving Paris before the winter openings. The Paris modiste has no intention of incurring the disfavor of the woman from New York by trying to sell to her too old a style. Therefore, the midseason gown has been on display, the gown suitable both for late summer and for autumn wear.

Two types of costume have been shown—the wash dress or the simple frock, something that may be worn for a stroll on the beach or on informal occasions. The other type of costume is the more elaborate.

One of the interesting features to be noted in connection with the more elaborate toilet is the popularity of wide and rare old laces. Lucien Lelong, at his establishment, exhibits both the linen costume for summer wear and the more formal costume.

The skirt of Lelong's linen ensemble was of white linen, embroidered with two wide bands of blue. A linen vest, also of white, embroidered with the blue, added to the novel effect. The vest was sleeveless and buttoned down the front with huge pearl buttons. With the skirt and the vest went a blue linen coat, reaching to the hem of the white skirt. The coat was also designed with the two wide bands of embroidery only. To form a more striking contrast, the embroidery on the coat was done in white.

Charming Dorothy Mackaill, the motion picture actress, appearing in "Subway Sadie," is shown displaying the latest in pony-skin coats, giving an idea of what is to be the winter mode in wraps.

Envelope Evening Bags Are of Metallic Threads

Flat envelope evening bags, with similar smaller purses to match, are made entirely of metallic threads woven together in conventional and floral designs. Only metallic colorings are used, and they include silver, gold, steel, bronze, copper and a platinum cast. The flap is cut in a crescent shape, with a border design, which is used about the edge also.

Quite different from conventional evening bags, these are equipped with patented clasps that insure the safekeeping of the contents. They may be carried with any of the sheer evening frocks or the very elaborate ones of metal cloth or velvet.

Suede is expected to return in all its old favor this fall in bags of all colors. One lovely model, to carry with a smart afternoon costume, is made on a long frame and is slightly shirred. A wide band extends about the bag, to form a strap handle on both sides. The clasp is in the form of a short scrubby bar of Korean jade, mounted in silver and combined with marcasite work. Two circlets and metal ends are other details of this clasp. The bag is lined with green and mirror and is lined with either matching or contrasting silk. The popular shades are green, tan, brown and black.

Caterpillar "Strings"

The caterpillar has a sting, and it is found that its searching hairs may be blown through the air, lodge on a person and produce a rash. This accounts for the African people often reporting when there has been no contact with caterpillars.

QUEEN OF SPAIN FOLLOWS PARIS WITH INDIVIDUAL RESERVATIONS

Known as One of Europe's Best Dressed Women, She Favors Shirts Slightly Longer and Medium Hats —White, Silver and Rose for Evening.

Paris.—Since the Queen of Spain is known as one of the best dressed women in Europe, the clothes worn by her on her recent trip to London and Paris have aroused considerable attention.

Unlike many of the other present queens, who do not pretend to follow the fashions, the Queen of Spain follows the dictates of Paris, and always is dressed fashionably in the mode of the moment. She also uses taste and discretion, choosing styles, lines, and colors that best suit her blonde beauty, her height, and her figure, which she keeps youthfully trim.

At her first public appearance, at the races at Longchamps, in Paris, the thousands who saw her noticed that the queen is no slave to fashion, as her skirts are considerably longer than those worn at present. All Her Majesty's dresses, morning, afternoon, or evening, as well as her coats and wraps, are of the same length, that is, only three or four inches above the ankle, and far nearer the instep than the knee. Yet a master eye and hand must be responsible. While other people would look dowdy in this length, the queen manages to keep such a nice proportion that she seems to be dressed always in the height of fashion without the loss of dignity that shorter skirts would entail.

Medium-Size Hats Preferred.

The queen also shows a penchant for a certain type of hat much worn at present. She does not favor the small or very large types, although she also has some and wears them, but usually her hats are of medium size with a draped crown, or a crown folded in some becoming way, the brim shorter in the back. Her hats are usually quite simple, as the queen avoids feathers and elaborate trimmings, and prefers plain grosgrain or velvet ribbon.

The queen favors all white, or pastel coloring, and usually her costumes carry out a matching ensemble effect, dress hat and coat or wrap all in one color. At races in Paris and again at the luncheon in honor of Their Majesties at the Elysee Palace, tendered by the President of France, Her Majesty wore white—the dress of soft crepe with pleatings, a hat of white horsehair, bound in grosgrain with a flat bow of the ribbon on the side, and a heavy white silk coat featuring a thick collar of soft beige fox.

Other favorite costumes of the queen, often worn both in London and in Paris, are ensembles of Nile green and mauve. No doubt wishing to look particularly fresh and chic on her arrival in London, where thousands would be on hand at the station, Her Majesty changed from her severer traveling clothes in her steamer cabin crossing the Channel, and stepped off the train radiant in a Nile green ensemble. The dress probably was of crepe, for she was wearing a finely tailored coat the length of the dress and a hat to match, shortest in back and widest at the sides.

Mauve Ensemble.

On other warm, sunny days, the queen sometimes wears a mauve ensemble, almost a replica of the green. And on cooler days, she wore white to watch a polo game at Hurlingham—a smart white felt hat and a great, wrappy coat of some soft woolen material with a becoming, high-standing collar of a light summer fur. One of these coats had a broad satin stripe running through the material.

In fact, Her Majesty favors these long, wrappy coats and seems to have any quantity of them. While it it hot at present, it was cold and dreary the first part of her London visit, and the queen wore dark colors, these long coats being especially appropriate for a shopping tour or motor ride in the afternoon.

She was often seen out walking, attended by her Lady in Waiting or Lord Chamberlain, in a coat of very dark blue or black woolen material, and collars and cuffs of light-colored fox. One of her favorites was a navy blue with beige fox collar, and a navy blue hat trimmed in one of the fashionable modes of the moment. It had a band of navy blue grosgrain ribbon bordered with beige, the flat bow or cocarde on the side of the crown falling to the edge of the brim, also of blue, with the tiny border of beige. She usually wears one-strap pumps and always carries smart, distinctive handbags carefully chosen to suit each costume.

The Queen of Spain looks her best in the evening, when she favors all white, silver, or pale rose. Naturally she is most lovely for a royal occasion such as dinner at Buckingham Palace, or a dinner in Their Majesties' honor at the Spanish Embassy, when she wears magnificent jewels. Needless to say, the queen has not cut her hair, but it is becomingly arranged, waved, parted at the side with a small knot at the nape of the neck as flat as possible.

The queen's favorite jewels are pearls and diamonds, one of her handsomest pieces being a blazing diamond tiara. On these formal occasions, she wears ermine or chinchilla wraps, or gorgeous velvets trimmed in these rich furs.

Prosperity, Only Issue.

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—"Prosperity as a result of the Coolidge administration," is the only issue in the fall congressional campaign, Representative Bertrand H. Snell, Republican of the 31st New York district, declared today after a week-end visit with President Coolidge.

Original Majolica

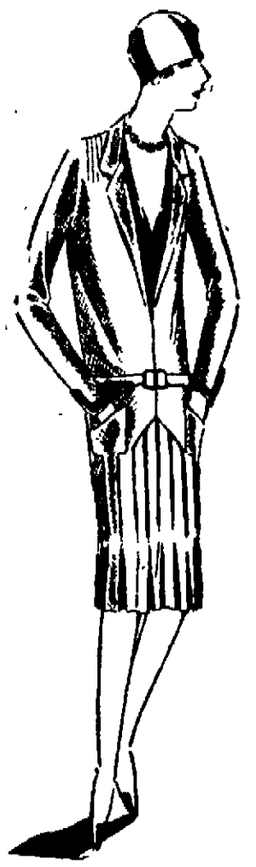

The term majolica is used by modern manufacturers for glazed hard pottery intended for use in decorative architecture. Originally the name was applied to Hispano-Moorish lustered faience brought into Italy from southern Spain by way of Minorca. Later the term was applied to faience made in Italy chiefly during the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries.

Eleanor Gunn On Fashions

THE PARIS OPENINGS EMPHASIZED SPORTS WEAR, ADVANCED THE CAUSE OF THE CLOTH FROCK, ACCUSTOMED US TO BRIGHT COLORS.

With the secrets of the Paris haute couture revealed, one has only to bide one's time to discover which of the many, many ideas suggested for fall will develop from fad to fashion. In our natural enthusiasm for new raiment, it follows that our judgment is not so keen, and that almost anything new appeals. Later things take on their true value and we know, for instance, just how much or how little the tendency toward a more normal waist-line really means, how far we plan to go in adding fulness to sleeves or skirts, and what is to be the real fate of the two-piece costume.

It seems certain that sports clothes will continue to impress, not only with their wearability, but with their chic. The greater activity of women in general, and of French women in particular, is given as the incentive to the couture that resulted in so much interest being manifested in sports types at the fall opening, a time of year when one might reasonably be pardoned for losing interest in attire so largely associated with resorts. Patou, among others, exploited cardigan and other sweater types making a point really to foster this type of dress.

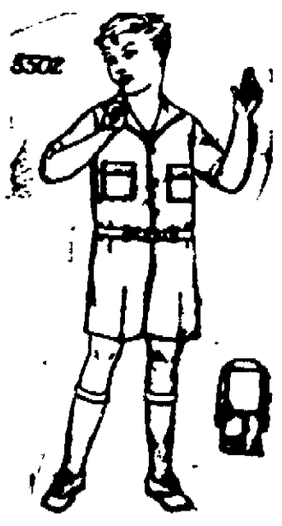

A Tailored Frock of Rep Covert in Rustic Shade Introduces Pockets and a Belt. The Skirt is Box Pleated at the Front, and Satin is Used for the Vestee and Cuffs.

Cloth dresses merit consideration, not only because they are logical at this time, but because they are very highly approved in tailleur and sports types. Important in this connection is the fact that large broken plaids, such as are more or less associated in our midst with school-room wear, are very fashionable, as well as huge plaid and block effects in degrade colorings. Braid suggests itself as being applicable to the sports cloth frock, but above braid or anything else is the prestige accorded pleating.

Eleanor Gunn Says

That sports clothes have again been emphasized at the French openings, sweaters and cardigan types being well received.

That the vogue of shirring continues and that shirred dresses, coats and wraps are very much worn.

Color combinations rather than monotones continue in approval, red and black, and red and navy being among the fall indications of a continuance of two-tone and contrasting effects.

Smart milliners are going rather to extremes in the height of their crowns, many of which show a tendency to topple backward.

A fuller silhouette is indicated by advance fall models. Many sleeves billow out below the elbow; bodices, blouses and skirts are wider and perhaps an inch or so longer, although still short.

Fraise, or strawberry, is listed among the newer colors used and is already seen, though dark reds outnumber other colors. There is also a tendency to popularize bright, or King's, blue.

The smartest dresses are characterized by elaborate hand-work. Shirrings, embroideries and inserts of various kinds occur frequently, and lace tends to add an even more elaborate effect.

At Le Touquet, where so many smart French folks go, it is reported that greens lead and that yellow is notable.

Waist-lines are decidedly going up. One begins to see the influence of the new fall mode in this particular.

Crystal jewel is developing into one of the high lights of the season, and one finds it worn by women who have laid aside more precious things because of its vogue.

Although long sleeves are far smarter for day wear, this does not interfere with the fad for bracelets. Huge gold links separated by cabochons are the most approved type.

Novelty oxfords are very much worn. Several types lace with tape, ending in a tassel.

The newest flowers for boutonnieres are made of rubber. Carnations are perhaps most often seen.

Ostrich flowers are among the most approved for evening year; indeed, ostrich registers from every direction, excepting for millinery.

THE WHY, WHEN AND WHERE OF FASHIONS.

Ostrich Boas.

Among the birds there is no one on record whose feathers have been used for more centuries and more consistently than the ostrich. Some of the oldest Egyptian tombs contain illustrations of these birds and their plumage.

The accusation often made that the lords of creation have formerly bedecked themselves with all the fancy things art and nature produced and have outshone women, seems to be justified when it comes to ostrich feathers. Froissart, the chronicler, of battles and politics, tells us of the great vogue of ostrich feathers among men in 1358. Unfortunately, not enough were imported to go around, as women did not begin to wear them until the sixteenth century. In those days, we often read of some feather of "inestimable value." One reason why they were valuable was that ostriches had to be killed for their feathers instead of raised on farms.

The first ostrich boas appeared about 1800, satisfying both the cry of fashion and the need of some protection, which the scanty dresses of that period did not afford. The feathers were curled beginning with the fifteenth century, but it was only about 1841 that Paris makers launched willow plumes dyed by tipping.

CREW ON SCHOONER ROBINSON RESCUED

Boston, Sept. 6 (AP).—The crew of the schooner Albert W. Robinson, which was afire 300 miles off the Virginia Capes last night, was rescued by the S. S. Azabran, according to a message received at the East Boston coast guard base.

The message was from the coast guard destroyer Cummings, which reported that she saw the Robinson afire and the crew being taken off by the Ambran. The rescue was made, it was indicated, last night. The schooner was then "a mass of flames."

Owing to a rough sea the Cummings was unable to approach close enough to use her fire fighting apparatus. At last reports she was standing by awaiting the arrival of other coast guard boats.

The Robinson was known to carry a crew of eight men. No record of a steamer named Ambran was available here.

MORE PATERNALISM.

Paternalism is a python skinning and swallowing our free institutions in the shining jaws of officialism. State, federal, city and county now maintain official bureaus to merely record the birth of a child, and draw salaries for doing it. The latest wrinkle is a birth certificate mailed from the Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census. The citizen is warned of its great importance in all future affairs of life.

We are following in the wake of the most highly paternalistic country in the world. Germany was backed by militarism and officialism that kept a record of the individual from the cradle to the grave.

How far the Children's Bureau of the Census under the Department of Commerce will carry its supervision of the family no one knows.

The history of nations shows that the python of self-extending officialism grows by what it feeds on. Is it crushing the free, independent citizenship of our country in its shining folds?

WHERE DOES IT LEAD TO?

Socialists and welfare workers who are urging state insurance against unemployment, accident, health and industrial hazards are not finding much encouragement in results of similar socialistic laws in Germany and Ireland. Prices of German products are so high that the country cannot sell abroad. It is stated this has resulted largely from social welfare laws which forced employers and workers to pay $631,000,000 in 1925 for alleged welfare benefits, while entire exports for that year were only $1,581,000,000.

Most of the cost of these "welfare benefits" goes to pay salaries of officials and other red-tape expenses connected with all government undertakings.

A German clerk earning $30 a month must spend three per cent of his salary for national insurance, his employer being required to pay the same amount for him, while they share in addition three per cent for unemployment and accident insurance and four per cent on compensation insurance. This means that the worker pays $5.50 a month out of a salary of $30, in addition to his income tax, and after paying these charges to the government he can look forward to receiving a pension of from $6.25 to $7.50 a month after he has reached the age of 65.

REAL SHOW.

Few, if any, would say that the last Democratic national convention was a tame affair, and few, if any, would deny that the next one promises to be just as entertaining. Judging from things that are being said now and which, to all intents and purposes, will become more bitter as the date of the big show approaches. In one sense there is no reason to look for any difference in the proceedings in 1928 than there was in 1924. The problems will be almost exactly alike and the persons will be the selfsame ones who caused the endurance contest in 1924 and which has not yet been wholly forgotten.

In the first instance, Governor Smith is going to try to have something to say, if not as a candidate for the presidential nomination then as the picker of the man who will be nominated. This will cause a fight right from the start for the reason Smith, a dripping wet, will not get behind a dry, and the Big Berthas of the drys will open up on that question. Already drys of the south and west have expressed their opinion of Governor Smith as a candidate and they declare they will not stand for him one way or the other. Those against Smith are practical politicians who refuse to accept the type of politics Smith and Tammany define.

Almost every day Democrats are taking a wallop at Governor Smith, and they are jobs that make those on the governor's corner careful about telling him to extend himself for fear he may drop his guard and receive a political sock-plexus. If the drys and general opposition to Smith get control of that convention, as they claim they will, the governor will not be a determining factor in the result, no matter who is nominated, and the Smith antagonisms are more intense today than they were in 1924.

In any event, Tammany could not control the Democratic national convention in 1924, and there is increasing reason that it will not be able to do as much in 1928 as it did then, but the convention in 1928 should be a real show, even compared with the last, and that was some gathering, and some go so far as to say that the next will be even more spectacular.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

High and Low Blood Pressure.

An institution whose work is the periodic examination of thousands of individuals yearly for insurance companies, reports some interesting figures for all of us.

After examining nearly seventeen thousand policyholders in one year, they report that there was a higher percentage of cases of high blood pressure in overweight persons, than in individuals of normal weight of same age.

Further, that the findings with respect to low blood pressure indicated that overweight persons, meat eaters, had relatively fewer individuals with low blood pressure than did the normal group. Now there are really just two points for us here. Overweight and high blood pressure are liabilities, and as the control of your weight is within your own power it is quite possible to say that you can control your blood pressure also. This doesn't mean drastic dietary changes, or excessive exercise, but just that you learn the amount of your overweight, and extent of your blood pressure above normal, and in a businesslike manner set about getting them to the normal point. The very fact that you are overweight is usually a sign of health, and that your tissues are able to build for you. And so cut own on your entire food intake ten, fifteen, or even twenty-five per cent, particularly on liquids and starches.

Then covering yourself well with clothes take a few minutes exercise daily to induce perspiration. This with a daily walk will be all that is necessary. You will exchange fat for muscle, and your blood pressure will come down to normal.

With the low blood pressure individual there is not usually the same degree of health.

Blood pressure must be increased, and so light exercise and fresh air must be taken to strengthen the tone of the heart muscle, in fact entire muscular system.

Thus when it comes to the matter of food, with the low pressure you may eat heartily of most foods, and meats, eggs, and cereals, will help to increase the blood pressure.

I sometimes wonder which is the least desirable high or low blood pressure.

If you have high blood pressure you eat well, sleep well, and feel well, but you are taking chances on heart, kidney, and blood vessel ailments.

With low blood pressure you don't feel any too good, and although you may escape above conditions, you are more subject to colds and various other ailments, and these hang on for a long time. Your best plan is to go after normal weight and normal blood pressure. You can get them if you make the effort.

WHY

Trees Are So Often Struck by Lightning

It has often been stated that the majority of persons killed by lightning are those who seek refuge under trees, but this is not the fact, says a writer in the Literary Digest. More than one-half of such deaths occur in the open and less than one-quarter under trees, according to an article in the Dearborn Independent stated to have been compiled from data furnished by the United States forest service. Trees are the objects most often struck by lightning, we are told, for the following reasons:

"The likelihood of a tree's being struck by lightning is increased:

"If it is taller than surrounding trees; isolated upon high ground; deeply rooted; and if it is the best conductor at the moment of the flash; that is, if temporary conditions such as being wet by rain transform it for the moment from a poor conductor to a good one.

"A heavy driving rain, such as accompanies the average thunderstorm, can so wet any tree that it will for the time being become an excellent conductor. Up to that time the tree might have been in itself a poor conductor.

"Thus though the moisture content of wood, particularly within the outermost layer of growth in a living tree, adds to the variability of induction, even the most resinous of trees with lowest moisture content can under a heavy rain become a splendid conductor in a moment's time. Because of this, and the fact that the form of the most efficient lightning rod, with its branches at both ends, resembles that of a tree, it is evident that any kind of a tree is likely to be struck by lightning."

Why Freshly Turned Earth Smells Sweet

Everyone enjoys the delicate but refreshing odor of fresh-turned earth, but few know to what it is due. The subject was investigated a quarter of a century ago by two French scientists, Berthelot and Andre, who came to the conclusion that the odor is due to the presence of some organic compound that escapes with water vapor. They supported this opinion by the fact that the odor is especially strong in dew-wet earth in the late summer and fall. According to a recent number of the Illustrierte Zeitung (Leipzig) this theory was verified a few years later by the German investigator Rollman, who actually obtained the perfume in the form of chemically pure double refracting crystals. He also succeeded in tracing it to a micro-organism, supposed to be a bacterium which he isolated from various soils, and to which he gave the name Cladothrix odorifer. More recent study of this odoriferous organism has revealed that because of its biological and morphological properties it must be classed as a radiant fungus. Hence the name has been changed to Actinomyces odorifer.—Literary Digest.

Why Wears Were Abolished

The Wears, or Kydells of England, referred to in the Magna Charta, were dams built of stone extending out into the river in a slanting direction, and were anciently used to force the fish in the waters to swim into a narrow inclosure, where they were most easily caught. They were prohibited in the Magna Charta because they were clearing the rivers of fish and acting as an obstruction to navigation. They also prevented the floating downstream of logs which were the only fuel with which the English people were acquainted.

Why Made Health Resort

Hot Springs, Ark., is widely noted for the hot waters that flow from 72 springs included in a space of ten acres on the west side of Hot Springs mountain. The waters of these springs range in temperature from 76 degrees Fahrenheit to 157 degrees Fahrenheit and are especially beneficial in the treatment of chronic diseases. In 1832 four sections of land were set off by congress as a government reservation. Since then the government has established on the mountain the Army and Navy General hospital. There are other medical institutions at Hot Springs.

Why Called Midshipmen

The name "midshipmen" for cadets originated in the British navy about 300 years ago. The men who were going through a course of training to become officers were assigned quarters amidships on the lower deck. Hence they came to be called midshipmen, a term which has been applied to cadets ever since.—Exchange.

Why Denominated "Quakers"

The nickname "Quakers" was originally applied to the Friends by Justice Bennett, a Derby (England) magistrate, in derision of George Fox, the founder, because he admonished the magistrate to "quake at the word of the Lord."

Why Silver Becomes Black

Silver becomes black when exposed to the air because the air contains some sulphur gases, for which silver has a great affinity. It absorbs them gases and makes a black compound called sulphide of silver.

Why Vines Can Cling

Some vines have tiny suckers on their creepers and can cling to and climb an almost perfectly smooth wall.

"Hearth Money"

"Hearth money," levied in England between 1662 and 1689, was a tax on domestic fires, and had to be paid to the king. The clergy had their benefices also, by levying a tax known as that of "smoke farthings."

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

First Thanksgiving Service in New Netherland Called by Proclamation for September 6, 1645.

The treaty of peace of August 25, 1645, signed by the sachems of the various tribes, including Mohican, Tappan Hackensack and other river tribes, with Mohawk ambassadors to give assent for the great Iroquois Confederacy on the one side, and Governor Kieft, La Montague, Captain Underhill, and other magnates of New Netherland on the other side, put an end to the war which had been conducted with equal ferocity by both parties.

A proclamation of thanksgiving for the peace was now issued by the council. After reciting that "long-desired peace with the savages had been bestowed by the Almighty," the proclamation concludes in these words: "So it has been deemed becoming to proclaim these good tidings throughout New Netherland, to the intention that, in all places where there are any English or Dutch Churches, God Almighty shall be thanked and praised, on the 6th of September next. The words of the text must be appropriate to the occasion, and the sermon likewise."

This appears to be the first proclamation for a general Thanksgiving in New Netherland, and well may this be so for by the terms of the treaty of peace all future aggressions or injuries by the Indians or the Dutch were to be referred to their respective rulers for redress. No armed Indian was, in the future, to visit any settlements on the Island; and the Dutch, on their part, were to refrain from visiting the Indian villages without permission, unless conducted by one of the tribe. One of the pleasing features of this treaty was a stipulation for the return of a little captive granddaughter of Anne Hutchinson.

Anne Hutchinson was an advocate of the right of private judgment in religious matters, and had been banished from Boston because it was said she was "weakening the hands and hearts of the people towards the ministers," and "was like Roger Williams, or worse." She was tried August 30, 1637, before an ecclesiastical synod at Newton, condemned and banished form Massachusetts, and went to Rhode Island. Her husband died in 1642, when she sought protection of the more tolerant Dutch, and in the summer of 1642, removed, with her family, to Pelham Neck, in Westchester county, within the Dutch domain of New Netherland. It was near New Rochelle, and the spot was called "Anne's Hoeck."

The massacre at Hoboken February 25, 1643, and other outrages committed by order of Governor Kieft aroused the fiery hatred of all the surrounding tribes, and a fierce war was kindled.

When Pelham Neck was attacked the savages invaded her retreat and murdered Anne Hutchinson, her son and son-in-law, and carried off her little granddaughter, Anne Collins, aged eight years. Some of her neighbors also suffered, eighteen of them being killed, and their cattle were put into barns and then burned.

When little Anne was delivered to the Dutch authorities four years afterwards, according to the terms of the treaty, to be sent to her friends or relatives in Boston, she had forgotten her own language, and did not wish to leave her Indian friends.

Another interesting character to suffer in these Indian depredations was Lady Deborah Moody, an English woman, who, like Mrs. Anne Hutchinson, had fled from persecution in Salem, established herself at Gravesend, on the western end of Long Island. She had scarcely become settled before the Indians attacked her plantation. Forty resolute colonists bravely defended it, and drove the assailants away.

Gravesend escaped the fate that befell Pelham Neck, and neighboring settlements, and all the other settlements in that part of Long Island.

Two years afterward Kieft granted Lady Moody, her son Sir J. Henry Moody, and others a patent for land adjoining Coney Island, now known as Gravesend. She and other inhabitants were allowed to nominate their magistrates. Her home was again attacked by the barbarians while Stuyvesant was on an expedition against the Swedes on the Delaware River, in 1655.

Following the proclamation for a general thanksgiving the settlers began to return to their respective locations, and to collect such of their stock and other property as could be found.

COLLEGE GRADUATES DRY UP THE SOUTH.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 6 (AP).—Two-thirds of the dry agents enforcing prohibition in one of the country's most difficult districts are college men.

Graduate chemists, lawyers, certified public accountants and other professional experts make up the force with which O. D. Jackson is bringing prohibition to the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama.

One effect of their work has been a reported increase of 200 per cent in the price of whiskey since Jackson took up his work—and a considerable decrease in the quality of the whiskey.

Another Racquet Game Invasion

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Thrice frustrated in their quest, the "Three Musketeers" of the court—Jean Borotra, Rene Lacoste and Jacques Brugnon—once more have been called upon by France to storm the American tennis ramparts this year for the National championship and the coveted Davis Cup.

Cochet Returns.

A fourth countryman whose early season successes have added new interest to the invasion is expected to lend strong support to the drive. Henri Cochet, with two 1926 triumphs over Vincent Richards during the latter's European tour, has made an impressive comeback this year, although his string of victories was snapped at Wimbledon by Borotra in the final round.

Cochet made his last appearance in this country in 1922, but failed to achieve the success which later fell to the racquets of Borotra and Lacoste, who share No. 1 ranking in their own country. Each extended Tilden to five sets last year in the Davis Cup challenge round, while later they returned here for the National indoor championships and an indoor team match to add even greater laurels.

Tilden, absorbed in stage work, lost to both players indoors. Richards also bowed to Lacoste, against whom he had scored a straight set victory in the National championships last year.

French Unsuccessful.

No French player ever has reached the final round of the premier American singles competition. Lacoste, eliminated last fall in the quarter-finals, suffered the same fate the previous year at the hands of Billy Johnston. In 1923 he reached only as far as the second round, where he failed to get past Francis T. Hunter after extending the powerful New York driver to five sets.

Borotra and Brugnon have not fared quite as well as Lacoste, but success of the latter this year will depend to a considerable degree on ability to recover his sensational form of last winter. With the National indoor trophy, Lacoste also carried back to France a severe cold which so weakened him that he has done little playing thus far this summer.

Cochet, Brugnon and Borotra, however, appear to be at the height of their form and tennis critics look for the French invasion of 1926 to test American net supremacy as it has not been tested since the visit of the Dohertys from England more than two decades ago.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Two fairly good days and two exceptionally good evenings have been enjoyed by the fans. Very little static and very little blooping. This last is astounding, considering that usually on rainy nights a lot of folks who ought not to be permitted to even enter a room in which there is a set remain home and bloop, while on Saturday nights the children play with the radio while pa and ma are window shopping.

WDBZ had some trouble at the opening of the services in the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday morning which did most amazing things to the voices it was trying to transmit. Dr Seeley snarled and the soprano soloist sputtered and snorted until things were adjusted properly and then their voices were their own melodious selves once more.

The attention of the WDBZ Knockers Club is called to the fact that WGY, with unlimited money, equipment and skill at command, had very much the same kind of trouble at the same time and that it lasted much longer in Schenectady than in Kingston.

When did WJAR jump to about 485 meters? It was there last night, on the exact spot used by WOC, but signed off at about the time WOC came on.

The What is It on about 355 meters said last night it was WEAN. Saturday night an announcer named Strickland who could enunciate clearly everything but the call of the station, said it was broadcasting from Palisade Amusement Park, which owned the station.

Coming through many squeals which it seemed to be generating, it was possible to hear the closing prayer and hymn from the First Baptist Church at Charlotte, N. C., through WBT.

WJR announced a prize of a loud speaker to the person receiving its program at the longest distance. From the volume here, that distance should be very great.

One radio golfer turns in this morning his log for Saturday and Sunday with a total of 97 stations in the two days, 45 on Saturday and 47 Sunday. He also says he was in bed and asleep before midnight on both nights. Of course there were many stations that were received both nights. As he operates an absolutely non-blooping set, it is none of anyone's business if he plays radio golf.

It would be hard to beat WTAM's Twilight Music Hour last night or the band music from WJAZ.

Location of Eden.

Josephus, the Jewish historian, locates the Garden of Eden near the mouth of the Ganges, others in southern Babylonia; still others in Armenia, near the source of the Tigris and the Euphrates. Recent discoveries would indicate that Eden was the fortunate name for the plain of Babylonia at the south end of which stood the city of Eridu, formerly on the Persian gulf; and near it a beautiful garden inhabited by the gods and containing the tree of life.

Think Batter Under Strain

Your snapping, pleasant fellow isn't going to get there as fast as the one who grits his teeth, knits his brows and holds his muscles tense, says Popular Science Monthly. A series of psychological tests recently was tried on persons while they were gripping a dynamometer, a pair of hand grips with meter attached, and then repeated while the subjects were sitting in relaxed positions. The results showed that persons can think much better and faster when their muscles are under tension.

Mouth

Two definitions of "mouth": the feeding valve of the stomach; the safety valve of the heart. One may also call it the testing field for both love and gastronomy.

Thus, the heart of the fool is in his mouth; the mouth of the wise is in his heart.

A large mouth is the sign of generosity of mind and feeling, and those of them blessed with a large mouth also never boast it said that they have the big mouth.—Frank Harriman in Los Angeles Times.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press).

Sweeping into the final three weeks for the ever-shifting struggle for the National League flag, the St. Louis Cardinals have crashed back into the lead by a meagre five points over Cincinnati, with the dogged Pittsburgh Pirates hanging on its third place.

Today was a day of opportunity for the Buccaneers. Battered about in second and third place since the Cardinals toppled them from the top with four whippings in a six game series early last week, a chance for revenge was offered Pittsburgh in the series opening at home with the Cardinals today. Cincinnati, likewise, is playing host to the fourth place Chicago Cubs, with the four leaders mixing in double headers that may cause even greater tangles that the past week brought forth.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran of many hot campaigns but none that could match in intensity the present struggle, rushed to the aid of the Cardinals yesterday after two straight defeats at the hands of Cincinnati had cost St. Louis the lead. Thirty-two thousand fans, among them five thousand from St. Louis roared in mingled admiration and dismay as the Chicago cast-off humbled the Reds 7 to 3. The Cards clouted everything Luque and Lucas had to offer, while the old master, pitching out of turn, allowed but two hits in the first five innings and nursed his lead thereafter.

Six innings was enough for the Cubs to dump the Pirates for the third time in the four game series. The 7 to 6 victory ended the season on the Chicago lot with the Pirates leaving early to catch a train. Both teams hit freely and although the Pirates rallied with four runs to tie in the sixth, Chicago pinch hitters pushed over the winning counter in their own half. No other games were played in the league.

Cleveland lost a lone point to the Yankees in the American by winning and losing in a double header with Detroit. The first game went to the Indians' way 8 to 7 in 12 innings, but the second was a total loss with Gibson hurling Detroit to a 2 to 0 shutout in 5 innings. Cleveland also had a train to catch George Burns, Indian first baseman, broke Tris Speaker's two base hit record by ramming out his 60th of the season. New York kept a six game lead over the Indians when rain broke up a double header with Philadelphia.

Washington picked on the Boston Red Sox again, 6 to 2, for the Senator's sixth straight victory over the bean eaters. Coveleskie toyed with the Boston hitsmiths.

Just 650 people saw the Chicago White Sox win a loose game from St. Louis, 9 to 8.

FAMOUS BATTLES for the HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

By The Associated Press.

Jim Jeffries needed only two rounds to dispose of Jack Munroe at San Francisco August 26, 1904. Although Munroe more nearly approximated the champion's poundage than any opponent encountered up to that time, he was helpless from the outset. Munroe weighed 210 to Jeffries's 219.

Referee Graney was quoted as saying that Jeffries had Munroe at his mercy and could easily have killed him.

Munroe picked out a hazardous resting place in the first round when he had sat down on the lower rope of the ring. He slid from the uncertain vantage point to the canvas where he took a count of six. Only the bell permitted him to weather a stormy first round.

Strange to say the challenger was confident and even enthusiastic—before the fight.

Kid McCoy on this occasion offered a challenge with reservations. He declared himself willing to fight any one in the world except Jeffries.

INCREASE IN COST OF BRICK CONSTRUCTION.

In 1909 the price of bricks was $4.50 a thousand in New York and the bricklayer received $2.50 a day, and his day's work consisted of laying approximately 2,000 bricks. In 1926 the cost of bricks is $21 a thousand, while the bricklayers receive $14 a day and the placing of 600 bricks constitutes a day's work. In other words, the cost of brick laid was $6.75 per thousand in 1909, while in 1926 the cost is $37 per thousand.

Tunney Works On Labor Day

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept 6 (AP)—Gene Tunney's plan to rest on Labor Day was upset by the rain dripping about his training camp. Instead the heavyweight challenger took to the road this morning, for the start of his regular program, foregoing any attempt to participate in the general observance of the holiday here. Eight rounds of boxing was program in the ring this afternoon.

Tunney's afternoon ring appearance may or may not mean much. He boxes to improve his timing and practices blocking but it is not believed that he uses any of the strategy he expects to employ against Jack Dempsey when he seeks to wrest the championship from him September 23.

The challenger is gone for hours on his jaunts along an abandoned road in the morning. He is away from his camp much longer than necessary to cover eight miles at the jog he employs in his running. Tunney has practically admitted that his real work is being done on the morning runs.

Details are not given but he says he shadow-boxes and does other work that is good for more than his wind while on the road.

Tunney continues to be sought after but thus far has accepted no invitations to go out of Stroudsburg. He will probably go to Delaware Water Gap a few miles away, for the Pennsylvania State convention of the American Legion during its session, September 8, 9 and 10. Tunney is a favorite with the Legionnaires through his service as a marine.

Dempsey Will Rest After Today

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept 6 (AP)—Labor Day is just that for Jack Dempsey and his crew of sparring partners.

After today's day of labor, however, the world's heavyweight champion will suspend all training activities until next Friday. Dempsey believes the three days' layoff, starting tomorrow, will put him on edge to snap into the final stretch of training.

Dempsey was happy today because of the presence yesterday of nearly 6,000 ring fans, the biggest crowd that ever paid to see any kind of a fighter, big or small, in a training campaign.

On one side of the ring sat Gertrude Ederle, the first woman to conquer the English Channel. On the opposite side sat Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia, September 23. The ringside also included Johnny Dundee, one of the greatest light fighting men that ever lived, and Frank Weiner of Philadelphia, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

The smiling Miss "Trudy" knows as much about fighting as Dempsey knows about swimming but she followed every motion the champion made.

She intently watched his flying fists in the five wicked rounds he boxed—wicked because two of his sparring mates came close to hitting the canvas for the count.

Dempsey was boxing better than on previous afternoons. His punches seemed to be delivered with more snap and speed and he was hitting more accurately. One of his sparring mates was knocked into the ropes and "a few seconds later dropped to his haunches with a savage right hand punch.

Ulster Fruit First At Fair

There has been much said at Grange meetings and in the public print about the superiority of the fruit grown in the Hudson valley. Color, texture and flavor have all been highly praised time and time again. This year in the fruit department at the State Fair in Syracuse, the Hudson valley won a majority of the premiums. Ulster county stands first with a rating of 94, Columbia second, at 92, Dutchess, third at 89 and Greene fourth at 89. The department is supervised by Thomas E. Cross of LaGrangeville, one of the most expert fruit men in the state.

Chauffeurless Auto Stopped.

This morning about 9 o'clock a Buick car that was parked in front of the Alpin House on Abeel street started to roll down that thoroughfare but was stopped by several men who happened to be on the street at the time. The car was just starting to make rapid progress when it was stopped and had it gone much further it would have struck the rear of the Port Ewen bus.

Automatic Signals Prove Helpful.

The automatic traffic signals recently installed in the city of Poughkeepsie are proving to be a great asset in the handling of traffic. Mayor Lawlor of that city threw the switch that set the signals to work on last Saturday afternoon and with police cooperation the traffic that prevails over the holiday period is being very satisfactorily handled.

BUDDY MYER WINS COMEBACK STUNT

Shows Much Improvement in Fielding and Batting.

Once in a while there comes to the big baseball show a young fellow who seems to have everything necessary to the making of a brilliant player. Yet this same youngster after a fair trial, fails utterly to measure up to the major league standard and drifts back to the minors writes John B. Keeler in the Washington Star.

Rarely does the youngster after his failure get a second trial the same season and he who redeems himself is indeed, a rarity. The Nationals are fortunate to have one of these rarities in Buddy Myer.

This youthful product of the Southern association, such a bitter disappointment during the early part of the campaign, since his return to the game after a month of bench warming promises to develop into one of the flashiest shortstops of the American league. Today he is rated as one of the best hitters occupying the shortfield position in the circuit and he is improving steadily afield.

During the training season Myer showed so much ability at bat and afield that Manager Stanley Harris thought he had the find of seasons. So Buddy was installed as regular National shortstop at the outset of the championship campaign. He was given every opportunity to make a permanent job for himself, but after seven weeks of effort he had failed to make good.

So the shortstopping business was turned over to the veteran, Roger Peckinpaugh, and young Myer was left on the bench to reflect upon his failure.

Fortunately for Buddy, and the Nationals, too, Manager Harris did not altogether lose faith in the young fellow. The pilot could not rid himself of the idea that the player who had performed so smartly during the training season must possess big league quality. And so instead of casting about for a minor league farming spot for Buddy, Harris put the shortstop on the Nationals' schooling list.

After a month of grooming back to the game Myer came on July 1 and almost immediately he began to reveal his real worth as a ball player. He went about his work in the shortfield in more intelligent manner and with smoother style and above all, his hitting improved wonderfully.

Trudie Is No Flapper, Can Cook and Milk Cow

Gertrude Ederle first woman conqueror of the English channel, is a "home body," whose tastes would almost classify her as old fashioned in the world of the modern flapper.

She is a good cook, milks cows occasionally when she is in the country, and does not smoke or drink alcoholic beverages of any kind. She does not go in for late parties, and, according to her mother, she has never allowed romance to interfere with her career as a swimmer. She does not even have a regular "boy friend," her mother said.

Swimming has been her chief interest, and she spends as much of her life as possible in the open air.

Arrest Violators Of Explosive Law

Campaign Against Violators of the Labor Law Governing the Use of and Storage of Explosives Results in Many Convictions.

Albany, Sept. 6.—In cooperation with the State Police, the Department of Labor through its Division of Explosives has been making an intensive campaign against violators of the labor law governing the use of and storage of explosives.

The result has been that arrests have been made and convictons secured and violators have been made to see that the law must be obeyed. In one week six persons were arrested and in every instance conviction was secured, most of the offenders when arraigned in court pleading guilty to the charges preferred against them. Fines were imposed in each case and one man was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

The explosive law, which is part of the labor law of the state, makes provision that dynamite and other high grade explosives in excess of five pounds must be stored in magazines that are built according to the specifications and regulations laid down by the Department of Labor.

In the development of several summer resorts, in which there is a considerable amount of clearing of stump lands and blasting of rock and in the building of state roads, contractors have used this year more dynamite and similar explosives than usual. The Department of Labor through its Division of Explosives is kept advised of the sales of all explosives in amounts in excess of five pounds. Checking up on these sales it has been found that there were several violators of the provisions of the law and in a number of cases they were caught red handed.

The state police has cooperated heartily with the department and with John J. Daly, head of the Division of Explosives, has brought about enforcement of the law in a way that it is believed will have a salutary effect.

"It is the purpose of the department to see that this law is rigidly enforced," said Commissioner Hamilton in discussing the campaign that the department is conducting. "The provisions of the law as to the handling of high explosives, as to the storing of high explosives and as to the blasting itself are clearly set forth in the law and in the code and it is necessary that everyone who handles explosives in an amount in excess of five pounds must strictly adhere to the law's requirements. We have found in our investigations that dynamite and detonators have been carelessly stored, in some instances merely covered with brush along much frequented highways and it is almost providential that there have not been serious accidents with a heavy loss of life."

The law requires that every person storing explosives shall apply to the Labor Department for a license called a certificate of compliance, and persons selling or giving away explosives in quantities greater than five pounds shall keep a complete record of every sale or gift. This record is open to inspection by the Labor Department and the police authorities.

The Department and State Police inspectors are making a careful survey of the entire state to locate all activities in which explosives are being used.

An idea of how the department works in enforcing the law is given in one or two instances below:

Having reason to believe that a contracting company which was doing state highway work in a certain town in Albany County was violating the law the chief of the explosive division, Mr. Daly, with State Trooper Robert A. Troidl made an investigation the latter part of July. When Mr. Daly and the trooper arrived at the job the superintendent in charge told them that they were not storing explosives. However, after investigating the surrounding terrain they found that the company was storing 3,750 pounds of 40 per cent dynamite and 1,000 blasting caps. Both the dynamite and blasting caps had been piled on the ground in a piece of woods and had been carefully hidden from view by putting branches over them. Two arrests were made in this case, one being the superintendent and the other the president of the company. The men were arraigned before a local justice of the peace and were fined $25 each.

In this particular case the investigators found that the pile of explosives and caps were adjacent to a much frequented highway and but a short distance away was an automobile which had been parked along the road.

On the following day after this investigation a complaint was made to the department that a land development company had been using explosives and had not been licensed by the department. Investigation showed 350 pounds of dynamite and 1,750 blasting caps. An immediate arrest of the superintendent in charge of this particular operation was made and on being arraigned before a justice of the peace the defendant was fined $25 and thirty days in jail.

In another instance a few days after the inspectors found that another road contractor had 300 pounds of dynamite stored in a wooden box which was unlocked. The superintendent of this contract work was immediately arrested. For maintaining a public nuisance he was fined $10 and a fine of $20 was imposed for storing explosives without a proper license.

In all of these instances the department had given certain instructions to the contractors involved not to store explosives until a proper magazine had been constructed and the necessary license had been obtained from the Labor Department.

BIG BUSINESS MUST HELP THE FARMER, JARDINE SAYS.

Agriculture needs the methods of big business and help from some of the men in this country who have become industrial leaders, United States Secretary of Agriculture William Jardine told his audience at Farm and Home Bureau Day at the State Fair, Syracuse.

Farmers have good leadership among themselves, but not quite enough of it, the secretary said. They must learn from big business how to apply the principles which have made this country a great industrial nation. But this help should not come as a charity proposition, he declared, "for the only kind of cooperation which will ever live is the kind that will produce a dividend for each party cooperating."

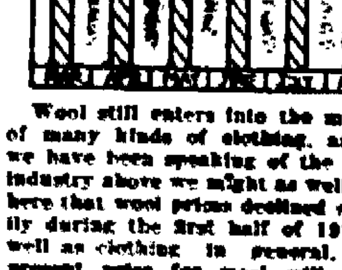

New York farmers are exceedingly lucky in location, he said, having at their doorstep the greatest metropolis in the world with fifteen million persons who are every day increasing their consumption of milk and perishable products.

"There is nothing unsound in cooperative marketing," the speaker declared. "We farmers cooperate on too small a scale to fight out our battles alone. There is no remedy for some of the ills of agriculture except through organization."

The secretary came to the fair on the invitation of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation.

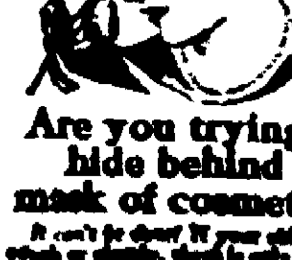

Clothing Grows Cheaper.

According to Dunn's, the price trend of clothing from March until the end of July has been steadily lower. August has seen a slight rise in the cost of clothing—but nothing to be alarmed about, and the reader must bear in mind that it is the average price of many kinds of clothing that we are talking about.

Wool still enters into the making of many kinds of clothing, and as we have been speaking of the sheep industry above we might as well note here that wool prices declined steadily during the first half of 1926 as well as clothing in general. The present price for wool will cause more buying and probably result in somewhat higher wool prices, but any immediate return to the high wool prices of late 1924 is unlikely.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor, when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceedings, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. The use of property for the drainage of swamp or agricultural lands is declared to be a public use and general laws may be passed permitting the owner or occupants of swamp or agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions on making just compensation, and such compensation together with the cost of such drainage may be assessed, wholly or partly, against any property benefited thereby; but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The legislature may authorize cities and counties to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SIX

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO PROVIDING FOR AN EXECUTIVE BUDGET.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the constitution be amended by adding a new article to follow article four to be article four-a to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV-A

§ 1. On or before the fifteenth day of October in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-eight and in each year thereafter the head of each department of the state government, except the legislature and judiciary, shall submit to the governor itemized estimates of appropriations to meet the financial needs of such department, including a statement in detail of all moneys for which any general or special appropriation is desired at the ensuing session of the legislature, classified according to relative importance and in such form and with such explanation as the governor may require. Copies of such estimates shall be simultaneously furnished to the designated representatives of the appropriate committees of the legislature for their information.

The governor, after hearings thereon, at which he may require the attendance of heads of departments and their subordinates, shall revise such estimates according to his judgment. The representatives aforesaid of the committees of the legislature shall be invited to attend such hearings, and under regulations to be provided by law shall be entitled to make inquiry in respect to the estimates and the revision thereof.

Itemized estimates of the financial needs of the legislature certified by the presiding officer of each house and of the judiciary certified by the comptroller shall be transmitted to the governor on or before said fifteenth day of October for inclusion in the budget without revision but with such recommendation as he may think proper.

§ 2. On or before the fifteenth day of January next succeeding (except in the case of a newly elected governor and then on or before the first day of February) he shall submit to the legislature a budget containing a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues. It shall contain all the estimates so revised or certified and clearly itemized, and shall be accompanied by a bill or bills for all proposed appropriations and reappropriations.* It shall show the estimated revenues for the ensuing fiscal year and the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of the current fiscal year together with the measures of taxation, if any, which the governor may propose for the increase of the revenues. It shall be accompanied by a statement of current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the state; statements of the debts and funds of the state; an estimate of its financial condition as of the beginning and end of the ensuing fiscal year; and a statement of revenues and expenditures for the two fiscal years next preceding said year in form suitable for comparison. The governor may before final action by the legislature thereon, and not more than thirty days after submission thereof, amend or supplement the budget; he may also with the consent of the legislature, submit such amendment or a supplemental bill at any time before the adjournment of the legislature.

A copy of the budget and of any amendments or additions thereto shall be forthwith transmitted by the governor to the comptroller.

§ 3. The governor and the heads of departments shall have the right, and it shall be the duty of the heads of departments when requested by either house of the legislature, to appear and be heard in respect to the budget during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relevant thereto. The procedure for such appearance and inquiries shall be provided by law. The legislature may not alter an appropriation bill submitted by the governor except to strike out or reduce items therein, but it may add thereto items of appropriation provided that such additions are stated separately and distinctly from the original items of the bill and refer each to a single object or purpose; none of the restrictions of this provision, however, shall apply to appropriations for the legislature or judiciary. Such a bill when passed by both houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the governor, except that appropriations for the legislature and judiciary and separate items added to the governor's bills by the legislature shall be subject to his approval as provided in section nine of article four.

§ 4. Neither house shall consider further appropriations until the appropriation bills proposed by the governor shall have been finally acted on by both houses; nor shall such further appropriations be then made except by separate bills each for a single work or object, which bills shall be subject to the governor's approval as provided in section nine of article four. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as preventing the governor from recommending that one or more of his proposed bills be passed in advance of the others to supply the immediate needs of government or to meet an emergency.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in uniformity* with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

* So in original. [Words "Section 1" omitted.]

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION FOUR OF ARTICLE FIVE OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE HEAD OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT IN THE STATE GOVERNMENT.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), that section four of article five of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHT

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac lake in Franklin county to Long lake in Hamilton county and thence to Old Forge in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain lake and Raquette lake, and nothing shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway in Essex county from Wilmington to the top of Whiteface mountain.

The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in uniformity* with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

AMENDMENT NUMBER NINE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO THE CREATION OF A DEBT OR DEBTS OF THE STATE TO PROVIDE MONEYS FOR THE ELIMINATION OF RAILROAD CROSSINGS AT GRADE.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That article seven of the constitution be amended by adding at the end thereof a new section, to be section fourteen, to read as follows:

§ 14. The legislature may authorize by law the creation of a debt or debts of the state, not exceeding in the aggregate three hundred million dollars, to provide moneys for the elimination, under state supervision, of railroad crossings at grade within the state, at the expense of the state and railroad companies, or of the state, railroad companies and one or more municipal corporations. The term "municipal corporations," as used in this section, means counties, cities, towns and villages. Of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to which any of the proceeds of such a debt are applied, twenty-five per centum shall be borne by the state, twenty-five per centum by one or more municipal corporations, and fifty per centum by the railroad company, or companies, except that if a grade crossing elimination be on a state highway, fifty per centum of such expense shall be borne by the state and fifty per centum by the railroad company or companies. The legislature, by law, shall prescribe, or shall provide the manner for determining, whether the twenty-five per centum of expense herein required to be borne by one or more municipal corporations shall be borne wholly by one municipal corporation or apportioned between two or more, and, if so apportioned, the portion to be borne by each. Laws shall be enacted to provide for repayment to the state of moneys advanced in aid of railroad companies and municipal corporations, at such times, in such manner and with interest at such rate, that the state shall be able to pay when due the portion of the state debt equal to the proceeds which shall have been so advanced, and interest thereon. The provisions of this article, not inconsistent with this section, relating to the issuance of bonds for a debt or debts of the state and the maturity and payment thereof, shall apply to a state debt or debts created pursuant to this section; except that the law authorizing the contracting of such debt or debts shall take effect without submission to the people pursuant to section four of this article.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section fourteen of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 14. The legislature may authorize by law the creation of a debt or debts of the state, not exceeding in the aggregate three hundred million dollars, to provide moneys for the elimination, under state supervision, of railroad crossings at grade within the state, at the expense of the state, railroad companies [illegible] and one or more municipal corporations [illegible] as hereinafter provided. Of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to which any of the proceeds of such a debt are applied, [twenty-five] fifty per centum shall be borne by the [state, twenty-five] per centum by the city, town or village and fifty per centum by the] railroad company. The remaining fifty per centum shall be borne by the state and the county in which the crossing is located, or by the state and the city in which it is located if the city contains two or more counties; except that if so provided by law, such remaining fifty per centum of the expense of elimination of a grade crossing in any other city shall be borne by the state, the county and such city. The proportions of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to be borne by the state and county, state and city, or state, county and city, under the provisions of this section, shall be determined by or pursuant to law. Laws shall be enacted to provide, as far as practicable, for repayment to the state of moneys advanced in aid of railroad companies, counties and cities[, towns and villages], at such times, in such manner and with interest at such rate, that the state shall be able to pay when due the portion of the state debt equal to the proceeds which shall have been so advanced, and interest thereon. The provisions of this article, not inconsistent with this section, relating to the issuance of bonds for a debt or debts of the state and the maturity and payment thereof, shall apply to a state debt or debts created pursuant to this section; except that the law authorizing the contracting of such debt or debts shall take effect without submission to the people pursuant to section four of this article. The aggregate amount of a state debt or debts which may be created pursuant to this section, as hereby amended, shall not exceed the difference between the amount of the debt or debts heretofore created or authorized by law, under the former provisions of this section, and the sum of three hundred million dollars; and the legislature, by law, may authorize or require a county to bear all or part of the portion of the expense of any such crossing elimination, heretofore begun or authorized, which was imposed by former provisions of this section on a city, town or village therein.

AMENDMENT NUMBER ELEVEN

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE EIGHT OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO LIMITATION OF INDEBTEDNESS OF CITIES.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That section ten of article eight of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 10. No county, city, town or village shall hereafter give any money or property, or loan its money or credit to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation, or become directly or indirectly the owner of stock in, or bonds of, any association or corporation; nor shall any such county, city, town or village be allowed to incur any indebtedness except for county, city, town or village purposes. This section shall not prevent such county, city, town or village from making such provision for the aid or support of its poor as may be authorized by law. No county or city shall be allowed to become indebted for any purpose or in any manner to an amount which including existing indebtedness, shall exceed ten per centum of the assessed valuation of the real estate of such county or city subject to taxation, as it appeared by the assessment rolls of said county or city on the last assessment for state or county taxes prior to the incurring of such indebtedness; and all indebtedness in excess of such limitation, except such as now may exist, shall be absolutely void, except as herein otherwise provided. No county or city whose present indebtedness exceeds ten per centum of the assessed valuation of its real estate subject to taxation, shall be allowed to become indebted in any further amount until such indebtedness shall be reduced within such limit. This section shall not be construed to prevent the issuing of certificates of indebtedness or revenue bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes for amounts actually contained or to be contained in the taxes for the year when such certificates or revenue bonds are issued and payable out of such taxes; nor to prevent the city of New York from issuing bonds to be redeemed out of the tax levy for the year next succeeding the year of their issue, provided that the amount of such bonds which may be issued in any one year in excess of the limitations herein contained shall not exceed one-tenth of one per centum of the assessed valuation of the real estate of said city subject to taxation. [Nor shall this section be construed to prevent the issue of bonds to provide for the supply of water; but the term of the bonds issued to provide for the supply of water, in excess of the limitations of indebtedness fixed herein, shall not exceed twenty years, and a sinking fund shall be created on the issuing of the said bonds for their redemption, by raising annually a sum which will produce an amount equal to the sum of the principal and interest of said bonds at their maturity.] All certificates of indebtedness or revenue bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes, which are not retired within five years after their date of issue, [and bonds issued to provide for the supply of water,] and any debt hereafter incurred by any portion or part of a city, if there shall be any such debt, shall be included in ascertaining the power of the city to become otherwise indebted; except that debts heretofore or hereafter incurred by any city [of the first class after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and four, and debts incurred by any city of the second class after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and eight, and debts incurred by any city of the third class after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and ten,] to provide for the supply of water, shall not be so included; and except that debts not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of ten million dollars, heretofore or hereafter incurred by any city with a population of not less than two hundred and fifty thousand and not more than one million, and except that debts not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of five million dollars, heretofore or hereafter incurred by any city with a population of not less than one hundred and seventy-five thousand and not more than two hundred and fifty thousand, for so much of the cost and expense of any public improvement as may be required by the ordinance or other local legislative law therein assessing the same to be raised by assessment upon local property or territory, shall not be so included; and except further that any debt hereafter incurred by the city of New York for a public improvement owned or to be owned by the city, which yields to the city current net revenue, after making any necessary allowance for repairs and maintenance for which the city is liable, in excess of the interest on said debt and of the annual instalments necessary for its amortization may be excluded in ascertaining the power of said city to become otherwise indebted, provided that a sinking fund for its amortization shall have been established and maintained and that the indebtedness shall not be so excluded during any period of time when the revenue aforesaid shall not be sufficient to equal the said interest and amortization instalments, and except further that any indebtedness heretofore incurred by the city of New York for any rapid transit or dock investment may be so excluded proportionately to the extent to which the current net revenue received by said city therefrom shall meet the interest and amortization instalments thereof, provided that any increase in the debt incurring power of the city of New York which shall result from the exclusion of debts heretofore incurred shall be available only for the acquisition or construction of properties to be used for rapid transit or dock purposes. The legislature shall prescribe the method by which and the terms and conditions under which the amount of any debt incurred by the city of New York for a revenue producing improvement to be so excluded shall be determined, and no such debt shall be excluded except in accordance with the determination so prescribed. The legislature may in its discretion confer appropriate jurisdiction on the appellate division of the supreme court in the first judicial department for the purpose of determining the amount of any debt to be so excluded. No indebtedness of a city valid at the time of its inception shall thereafter become invalid by reason of the operation of any of the provisions of this section. Whenever the boundaries of any city are the same as those of a county, or when any city shall include within its boundaries more than one county, the power of any county wholly included within such city to become indebted [illegible]

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article eight of the constitution be amended by adding a new section to follow section ten, to be section ten-a, to read as follows:

§ 10-a. Notwithstanding any of the limitations prescribed by the preceding section, debts may be incurred by the city of New York after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, for the construction or equipment, or both, of new rapid transit railroads not exceeding the sum of three hundred million dollars; and such debts shall not be included in computing the debt limit of such city for the purpose of ascertaining the power of such city to become otherwise indebted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWELVE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE TWELVE OF THE CONSTITUTION, IN RELATION TO TERRITORY PROPOSED TO BE ANNEXED TO A CITY.

Section 1. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article twelve of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section to follow section seven, to be section eight, to read as follows:

§ 8. Annexation of territory to cities. No territory shall be annexed to any city until the people of the territory proposed to be annexed shall have consented to such annexation by a majority vote on a referendum called for that purpose.

§ 2. Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one of article fourteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

Africa's Babel of Dialects

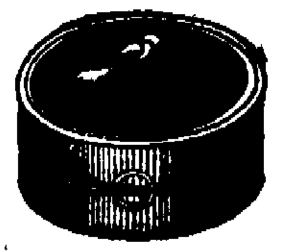

Travelers and explorers in Africa have much difficulty because of the great number of languages and dialects. Of the latter there is anywhere from 400 to 800, according to different authorities. Porters often have to be changed every 30 miles or so because one set would not understand the dialect of the next district.

LORD WILLING

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHEN does a mortal get his sense?
Well, some say now and some say then;
The measure of experience
Ain't all the same in all of men.
But me, I figger any man
Has got his sense when every plan
He puts one great provise on
And says, beginnin' every dawn,
"Lord willin.'"

Men don't wake up some certain date,
Some special birthday, stated year,
And say, "I'm twenty-one, or -eight,
Or sixty-five, or ninety near,
And so at last my sense I've got."
No, friends and neighbors, that ain't what
Will show that men have learned the way
To look at life—it's when they say,
"Lord willin.'"

Youth plans, and never doubts a dream,
Or doubts its dreaming will come true,
But there's some fault in many a scheme
That no man saw, and yet God knew.
Some great ambition may be man's,
But sometimes God has other plans;
And wisdom comes to sire or son
When every journey is begun,
"Lord willin.'"

Mother's Cook Book

GOOD THINGS IN SEASON

WHEN serving fish try the following sauce with it:

Wash and scrape four or five carrots and cook until tender in very little water. Drain and mash, add salt and plenty of butter. Cook a teaspoonful of flour in butter until brown and add to the carrots, then add one and one-half cupfuls of rich milk or thin cream and simmer for ten minutes. Season with pepper, cayenne and paprika; pour over broiled or boiled fish.

Pineapple Sponge Sandwiches.

Bake small sponge cakes in gem pans—cup cakes may be prepared if preferred. Cook until thick one cupful of shredded pineapple and three-fourths of a cupful of sugar with the juice and rind of half a lemon. Cut the cakes in half when cold, spread with the pineapple and press together sandwich-fashion. Serve covered with whipped cream, boiled frosting, or fondant, or just plain. Nice with an iced drink for an afternoon tea.

Green Apples and Onions.

Slice green apples after washing well, without peeling. Put a half dozen small onions sliced thin into a frying pan with two tablespoonfuls of bacon fat and sprinkle well with salt; stir until softened and nearly cooked, then add the apples and cook until all are tender. Season with salt and pepper and serve with broiled steak.

Bonnyclabber.

Nothing is more wholesome for the children's dessert than thick, rich, sour milk, sprinkled with brown sugar.

Spanish Salad.

Take one cupful of diced cooked chicken, one cupful of diced cucumber, one cupful of walnut meats broken into bits, one cupful of cooked peas, mix with a good boiled dressing and serve on lettuce.

Fruit Salad.

Arrange rings of pineapple on lettuce, top with a half of a banana cut like a candle, with the small end for the top. Garnish with a red cherry, and serve with a spoonful of rich dressing at the side of the dish. Another way is to fill the pineapple centers with chopped almonds mixed with thick mayonnaise.

Colonials Are Again Hard Hit

Jupiter Pluvius struck the Colonials a severe blow Sunday afternoon as he washed away the "benefit" game scheduled with the D and H Generals. He was also in an ugly mood this morning and necessitated the cancelling of the first half of the double-header with the Penn Red Caps. But if the weather is clear at 2:30 this afternoon a match will be staged with the Penn Red Caps.

The porters arrived Sunday night from New York city for today's intended double bill and will remain until it is certain whether this afternoon's game can be played. The D. and H. Generals also made the trip from up-state, getting here about noontime and leaving for home via the New York Central late in the afternoon.

Lou Brown stated this morning that if the D. and H. Generals are available next Sunday the "benefit" game will be staged then. No contest has been booked for next week end and if the Generals can possible do it they will be at the Fair Grounds next Sunday. Manager Harry Schermerhorn was not certain Sunday when he left whether the program could be arranged. As many tickets have been sold for the match with the Generals as the promised attraction the local managers are desirous of securing this team only for the "benefit" game.

STRIKE CALL IS RE-ISSUED BY MUSICIANS

Chicago, Sept. 6 (AP).—As a controversy involving musicians, stage hands and motion pictures operators appeared to have been settled throughout the country, musicians re-issued their strike call, effective today.

Decision to call out the Chicago musicians was made by James Petrillo, president, and the union executive board, after peace seemingly had been established. Four hundred show places and 3,000 persons were affected, with union officials maintaining that 800 movie operators and 1,000 stage hands would walk out in sympathy. Exhibitors, however, maintained that assurance had been given that operators and stage hands would not participate.

Included in the 27 starters was Omer Perrault, who on two occasions has attempted to swim the English Channel. Perrault withdrew within six miles of the finish because of a lame arm. Perrault won the event a year ago.

Both Will Be Studied at the State Sunday School Convention at Syracuse in October—This Year's Program Different From Other Years.

The auditorium, the Sunday school and social rooms of the First Baptist Church of Syracuse and three other large churches will be required to meet the program needs of the coming seventy-first annual New York State Sunday School Convention announced for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 13-15.

Sunday school workers will be there by the thousands. Syracuse is the convenient center for a large, cultured and intelligent Empire State population. Auburn, Utica, Oswego, Cortland, Ithaca and Rochester, all strong Sunday school cities, are near by and are closely connected with Syracuse by steam and trolley lines. Fine and frequent railroad connection with Syracuse is made with southern New York cities and villages. The people of New York state possess automobiles innumerable. Scores of villages and hamlets lie on or adjacent to the lines of railway communication. Sunday schools are thickly planted in rural and urban communities in central New York.

These condition point to a very large attendance upon the convention, and Syracuse will be ready to receive all comers. The local committee of arrangements and numerous sub-committees are vigorously at work on the preliminary local arrangements.

New York state has an unusual number of large schools. They are by no means equally efficient. The large school problems will be treated by specialists who know them.

Seventy-five per cent of the schools in New York state are small schools, which number from fifteen to ninety in membership. These also are given special consideration in the convention program.

The Specialization-Institute sessions give pastors, superintendents and teachers an opportunity to specialize as they follow the convention program. Several score of speakers and specialists have a place on the program.

The program of this convention is a new study in the "how" and "what" of present-day religious educational methods. The convention will be unlike any other ever held in New York state. The program this year is one that is "quite different." To sit through it and partake of its good things will be equivalent to a liberal education in modern Sunday school work.

Each school is entitled to one or more delegates. Delegates' credential cards may be secured on application to the State Headquarters, Albany.

A folder of information is now ready for free distribution and the advance convention program will be ready on September 10. Apply to the New York State Sunday School Association, 80 Howard street, Albany, N. Y.

SALADS

The salads which follow may be properly termed national as they are the favorite salads of the people in several countries or localities, the name of which is given to the salad.

French Potato Salad.—Cut cold boiled potatoes into dice, add one small onion finely-chopped, a few tablespoonfuls of finely-chopped chives and a tablespoonful of minced parsley. Let stand for an hour or two to season with a French dressing, adding a generous amount of cayenne. Serve on lettuce and top each serving with a spoonful of rich mayonnaise; sprinkle with minced chives.

German Salad With Sausage.—Boil four breakfast sausages twenty minutes, cut into half-inch pieces. Boil one-half pound of sauerkraut ten minutes, drain and cool and mix with the sausage. Cut thin slices of winter radish into very thin slices and arrange around the dish, sprinkle with finely-minced shallot, pickles and capers. Serve with French dressing.

Cuban Salad.—Break four or five dry soda crackers, shred two green peppers, slice one Spanish onion very thin, skin, bone and chop six anchovies. Serve on lettuce with French dressing.

Mentone Salad.—Bake four mild-flavored onions until tender, remove the peeling and put a lump of butter on each with salt and pepper. When cold cut into quarters and mix with four hard cooked eggs cut into quarters and six sardines boned and chopped. Add parsley and a teaspoonful of curry to a boiled dressing and serve.

Russian Tomato and Sardine Salad.—Arrange a bed of lettuce in a salad bowl. Peel four tomatoes of medium size, cut fine and mix with a few sardines boned and chopped. Place on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise.

Chicken Salad a la American.—To one cupful of finely-minced cooked chicken add one cupful of tender celery finely cut, one apple minced fine, one-half of a green pepper also minced. Mix with a highly seasoned boiled dressing and serve on lettuce.

FINLAND'S CAPITAL

The Harbor of Helsingfors in Summer.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

HELSINGFORS, FINLAND, most northern of the world's big city capitals, is enjoying now sunlight throughout the greater part of the 24 hours. But to earn this glorious flood of summer sunshine, the city's 200,000 inhabitants must pass a long and dreary period, from December until April, in surroundings popularized in fiction under the all-inclusive and descriptive caption of "the frozen North."

The streets of the city itself are but sparsely populated, and that only by a hurrying few intent on reaching a warm home where fur coats and caps may be laid aside and chilled hands may be thawed out before a cheery wood fire in a beneficent Finnish tile stove.

Even the broad Esplanade is almost empty, and the only sound to echo through the sharp air is the bright tinkle of the bells on a "droshky" as it glides smoothly and rapidly over the snow, or the deep guttural warning affected by the driver, as his horse makes a sharp turn at some corner.

The droshkies themselves, reminiscent of Russia, still strike the most picturesque note in the life of Helsingfors. This old method of transportation by sleigh has successfully battled against the competition of the taxicab.

Although the Helsingfors winter is milder than one might imagine from its situation as the most northernmost capital in the world, the city nevertheless has an abundant share of snow, particularly during the first three months of the year, when there is hardly a day without a fall of white flakes.

How They Clear the Snow.

A street-cleaning system which is a marvel of efficiency and speed copes with this situation. Every person owning a home, apartment or office building is responsible not only for the cleanliness of the sidewalk in front of his property, but also for the removal of the snow from that part of the street on which his building fronts.

Every property owner may either engage private firms to keep clean his portion of the public thoroughfare or may pay to the municipal authorities a fixed sum, thus shifting the entire responsibility to the shoulders of the city street cleaning department.

Law violation in this respect is almost unknown. An hour after a heavy snowfall a force of men and women is at work on every street, rapidly shoveling the snow into box-like sleighs, which are then driven to the harbor, where their loads are dumped.

In addition to the method mentioned, a far more interesting plan of snow removal is followed. On the more important streets the snow is literally burned, or melted, by machines which originated in Finland and which have since found a market in other countries. These machines are fired with logs, while three men shovel the snow into a large hopper, and as fast as it is offered to the huge maw it melts and the water runs through an outlet into the gutter and down a drain.

Helsingfors in winter is for the most part silent and subdued, white and ghostlike, austere and forbidding; yet it has its moments of relaxation.

On Sundays, particularly, one emerges from his home to find a world on skis. Man has abandoned the stiff and formal walk to glide, generally grimly intent on progress, over the snow-coated ice of the harbors to the islands that fringe the city in every direction.

Occasionally in large parties, but more often in couples or alone, everyone is skiing. Girls in flamboyant sports costumes, men in sweaters and knickerbockers—all push along.

This is not, of course, the only winter sport, although the dominant one. There is skating on the large public rinks in the harbor, and there are spirited ice-hockey contests. Even automobile races are staged on the ice. In the evening the restaurants, with dancing, the opera and the movies, all draw an appreciable patronage from the city's population.

When Summer Comes.

The transition from winter to spring, and from spring to summer, is something startling to an outlander, for a new world seems to be created under his eyes almost overnight. He has welcomed the first warm days of early April, watched with a feverish joy the melting of the snow, and has developed a somewhat fiendish obsession that makes him count every trickling stream which forecasts the disappearance of the crust of ice from street and sidewalk. And then it has snowed again, and the thought of spring dwindles to a forlorn hope.

In a like manner, the rapid lengthening of the days loses much of its meaning, for there is still a sharp tang to the air morning and evening. Yet this constant flood of light, prolonged through the greater part of every 24 hours, has an uncanny effect upon the trees, grass, and foliage.

For one night, after watching the sun set about eight o'clock, you will go to bed longing for a climate that would afford a relief from a continually gaunt, dreary, and bleak outlook. And you will awake to find that spring has arrived unheralded; that the trees show a tinge of green, and that the grass is actually prying its way through the blanket of snow.

Patches of warm earth appear in the parks, a few venturesome individuals ride to their work on bicycles, the ice in the harbor loses its steadfast aspect, office managers order the removal of double windows—spring has come to Finland.

Within the next few days all the outposts of winter make an inglorious retreat. The cobbled streets gleam naked under the sun's rays and the droshky drivers consign their sleighs to storage and appear, jauntily flourishing their whips, in high-wheeled carriages strangely resembling the old victoria. One feels that in order to make a proper journey in this vehicle, cheering crowds should line the streets and force a dignified rider to bow at intervals of some seconds.

The ice pack in the harbor finally disappears altogether, the first vessel of the year steams in, and Finland's short spring gives way to summer. A cool summer, it is true, and often a rainy one; but summer for all, with endless outdoor life, endless daylight, and endless merrymaking.

Open-Air Market.

Probably no activity in Helsingfors is more interesting to the summer visitor than the open-air market every morning on the broad square near the South harbor. Daily, before the average city dweller is awake, the peasants drive in their native carts from the near-by country with fruit, vegetables, meat and fish, flowers, dry goods, household utensils, and every other conceivable article of domestic commerce.

These peasants, chiefly women, rapidly set up small booths or stalls in the place assigned them by the police, and for four hours they ply a busy and extensive trade with the city housewives, who usually come to purchase vegetables and meat and depart with the inevitable armful of flowers as well.

Meanwhile other venders who have made the journey to Helsingfors in small sailboats group their craft around the landing stage and draw their customers from the outskirts of the buying throng.

Helsingfors is quiet at night, but one's final impression is the early evening is of a changing crowd on the Esplanade, of a bright national costume flashing beside the brilliant uniform of an officer or the drab outfit of a private soldier.

And these couples—for the most scene composed only of couples—all turn for one last round of coffee and sweet cakes toward an outdoor cafe, where they revel in the strains of one of the lively military bands which is playing a late American hit or two.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

Held on Charge Of Stealing Auto

Sunday Daniel McEwen and Walter Earley of Newburgh called at police headquarters and reported they had seen a Peerless sedan off the road about a mile south of Port Ewen and it appeared to them that the car had been stolen. The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Sheriffs Anderson and Millard were sent to the scene. It was found that the car was owned by Edith C. Zaccheo of 616 Broadway, and had been taken while parked in front of Cuneo's place on Broadway.

The deputy sheriffs arrested Ellsworth Dixon of Poughkeepsie on a charge of stealing the automobile and he was held for a hearing in police court before Judge Shufeldt.

Prefers Death to Unbobbed Hair

Bridgeton, N. J., Sept. 6 (AP).—Rather than face her classmates at the Bridgeton High School with unbobbed tresses, Annabel E. Lewis, 14, of Upper Deerfield township, killed herself yesterday with her father's shotgun.

Annabel was one of eight children. All summer she worked in the fields of her father's farm clad in knickers and a khaki shirt. During the summer her hair grew long and her father promised she could have it trimmed.

Failing to receive permission to come to Bridgeton to visit a barber, according to information given the police authorities, she became impatient. Her insistence for the haircut failed to shake her father. Yesterday she took her father's shotgun to her room and ended her life.

Bloodshed In Spanish Revolt

Two Soldiers Killed and Two Wounded in Spain's Military Revolt—Whole Affair May Be Settled Tuesday.

Madrid, Sept. 6 (AP)—The first bloodshed in Spain's latest military revolt was reported today. A lieutenant and a private were killed and a sergeant and a private wounded at Pamplona when they refused to surrender. All belonged to the artillery, in which section the mutinous movement also centered at Segovia and Valladolid.

(Pamplona, a fortified city and capital of the province of the same name, is 111 miles northwest of Saragossa.)

News of the incident was given by Premier Primo de Rivera to the newspapers. The premier added that it was hoped the whole affair would be settled by a council of ministers Tuesday under the chairmanship of King Alfonso, who raced back to the Capital by motor car from San Sebastian when news of the revolt first became known.

The premier said the ministers would draw up the general lines of the punishment, a part from judicial penalties, which the government should mete out to those who had "put themselves outside the pale of the law."

No untoward incidents have been reported elsewhere than at Pamplona. Dispatches received in the Capital indicate the subsidence of the movement everywhere.

Reports from France, however, say there has been rioting in Barcelona and Valencia, while advices from Gibraltar declare that the warships at Barcelona and Cadiz are making common cause with the artillery men. None of these rumors can be confirmed at present, and there is much curiosity here as to whether the Spanish official announcements tell the whole story and whether the country is as orderly as the censored despatches profess.

King Alfonso, who was at San Sebastian, when notified of the mutiny, drove the 368 miles to Madrid in his automobile in seven hours. He immediately went into conference with General Primo de Rivera, the premier, and the Duke of Tetuan, minister of war. The proclamation of the state of war followed, and the mutineers were ordered confined to barracks. It said that the decree was necessary "in view of the persistent and notorious lack of discipline of the artillery branch of the active army, culminating in acts of insubordination" in which the cadets of the military academy also participated.

Vigilant Watch Kept on Priceless Books

Lining the walls of the reading-room and three large galleries in the British museum, in London, are millions of books. Some are the only existing copies, and many are priceless.

Every possible precaution is taken to guard these treasures. The books are kept in strongly locked cases, from which they are never removed except by officials of the reading-room.

No one may enter this room without a reader's ticket, and a reader cannot obtain a book without first filling up and signing an official form.

Unless it is a book of unusual value, the reader may examine it in the ordinary reading-room, but if it is a very rare volume he is escorted into a special inner room, from which escape, other than by the authorized exit, would be impossible.

In both rooms, men in plain clothes, indistinguishable from the hundreds of readers, walk up and down, and contrive to keep within arm's reach of anyone who is perusing a special treasure. At the first movement to destroy or mutilate a volume, the vandal would be seized.

His wife, Emma A. J. Wadhams, and a brother, Rear Admiral Alston V. Wadhams, of the navy, survive.

World's Most Consumption

According to an English journal, Americans are the greatest meat eaters of the world with an average per capita consumption of 175 pounds a year. The largest part of this meat is beef, although the English, known as beef eaters, average only 130 pounds of beef. The French eat only half as much as the English, and the consumption is still less in Germany, Austria and Italy.

Mc Laughlin Is Hailed As Hero

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Police Commissioner George V. McLaughlin was hailed as a hero today for swimming in heavy seas to the rescue of four fishermen in distress in a boat off Coney Island last night.

Actual rescue was effected by marine police in a yacht, summoned by Commissioner McLaughlin before he swam out to help the four men.

Commissioner McLaughlin's summer home is at Seagate, near Coney Island, and late last night he saw a 44-foot motor boat in distress several hundred feet from shore. Water had gotten into the engine, and the occupants were struggling futilely with oars to make headway against waves that threatened to swamp it.

The commissioner, who is a strong swimmer and has had a reputation as an athlete, telephoned for a police launch, then discarded his outer clothes and swam to the boat.

After helping the fishermen get the boat under control he remained aboard with them until a police launch had arrived and towed them to the Atlantic Yacht Club, where the four men remained last night.

Holiday Exodus On In Earnest

The exodus of vacationists from the Catskills started in earnest today and by night it was expected that the majority of those who had been the guests at the mountain resorts would have returned to their homes. There was a steady stream of returning automobiles passing south over the Rondout Creek bridge today and the ferryboat Transport was carrying capacity loads on every trip.

Labor's Stand Against Facism

Green Pledges American Federation of Labor to Drive Facism From the Face of the Earth—Similar Message From Morrison.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—A Labor Day message from President William N. Green of the American Federation of Labor pledges that organization to "drive Fascism from the face of the earth," and a similar message from Frank Morrison, secretary of the organization, bears out his declaration.

"I am deeply in sympathy with the anti-Fascist movement, Mr Green told the Anti-Fascist Alliance of North America here last night.

"I should like to call it the movement for human freedom and human liberty. I frequently think of the working men of Italy, at the moment denied the freedom and the liberty we enjoy in this country. As far as we can help them, our entire resources are placed at their command.

"Fascism stands for repression and denial of freedom and democracy and any movement which is seeking to deny the natural expression of the human race is an enemy to society. The American Federation of Labor has stood for freedom and democracy. It is the one movement in the land that stands as the defender of these principles, and it will be heard of wherever there is a movement to substitute autocracy for democracy."

Mr. Morrison, in a statement made public in Washington, said that "a common disbelief in the value of Congress is encouraged by those who favor the Mussolini idea," and by those who "consider the people's representatives as a barrier to their will." He denounced company unions as paternalistic and as assuming "the form but not the spirit of the trade unions."

OCEAN MYSTERY SOLVED AT LAST

True Story of the Marie Celeste Told After Half a Century.

London.—Solution of a great ocean mystery is offered at last in a simple explanation, declared to be the true story of the Atlantic sailing ship, Marie Celeste.

Fifty-four years ago a passing ship signaled the Marie Celeste, which was flying full sails. There was no response. On investigation it was found there was no living thing aboard the vessel but a cat, sleeping peacefully. The ship's log had not been written in for 13 days. But it was evident that the vessel had not been deserted that long, for the crew of the investigating ship found food still warm in the galley, and a fire in the stove was just dying.

Story of the Mystery.

An article in Chamber's Journal declares that this is what happened:

The Marie Celeste sailed from New York for Genoa. She had been unable to handle all her cargo, and a second ship, the Dei Gratia, was chartered to help her. The captain of the Marie Celeste also borrowed two seamen and a cook from the crew of the Dei Gratia.

The captain's wife was killed by a piano that broke from its lashings in a gale as the Marie Celeste neared the Azores, where she was to meet the Dei Gratia. The skipper, maddened with distress, blamed a mate and ordered a seaman thrown overboard because while at the wheel he had permitted the ship to roll.

Throws One Overboard.

The crew refused to obey. During the night the captain disappeared and the mate was accused of his murder. The mate put up a fight and threw one of his accusers overboard. As the ship touched the Azores the crew deserted with the exception of the men borrowed from the Dei Gratia and the second mate. They put off again to intercept the Dei Gratia.

It is declared that the Dei Gratia took off the seamen so they could claim the Marie Celeste to be a derelict ship and get a large reward for taking her into port.

Lee Kaye, author of the story, declares he obtained the details from John Pemberton, seventy-seven, the cook lent to the Marie Celeste, who, he says, is still alive.

Tidal Wave Plunges Islanders to Savagery

Apia, Samoa.—From the isolated coral atoll of Palmerston island, lying between Samoa and Raratonga, news has just reached Apia of a tidal wave which three months ago swept over the island, destroying practically all property and reducing the inhabitants to most primitive condition. Only one life was lost.

Palmerston is peopled by about one hundred descendants of William Marsters, a British adventurer, who settled there in 1862 with his Polynesian wives. Its destitute condition was revealed only when Sir Maui Pomare, on the New Zealand government steamer Hinemoa, touched there on an inspection tour. Supplies were landed and a relief ship ordered immediately from Raratonga.

All houses were swept away except the church, and it was shifted from its foundation. All live stock perished except twenty chickens, five pigs and a cat. So complete was the destruction that the inhabitants were left without even fishing lines and hooks, but they caught fish with their hands and, supplementing this meager fare with fallen coconuts, managed to subsist until the Hinemoa arrived. The people received their rescuers with smiling faces and songs of welcome.

Claims Medal Awarded to Him 24 Years Ago

Washington.—Joseph L. Epps has turned up to claim a congressional medal of honor awarded him 24 years ago for bravery in the Philippines. As a private in the Thirty-third United States volunteer infantry in 1900 he is credited with having captured 21 armed Filipinos, forcing them to stack arms and surrender.

The War department, unable to locate Epps, recently received a letter from him at Panama, Okla. He said he had come across his old captain, Lieut. Col. Charles Van Way, retired, of Portland, Ore., and had heard from him about the medal.

It was forwarded to the commanding general of the Eighth corps area, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for presentation to Epps with appropriate ceremony.

Interglacial Era Forest Found Near Alaska City

Juneau, Alaska.—Discovery on the north side of Mendenhall glacier, near Juneau, of remains of an interglacial forest was announced here by the forest service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

An interglacial forest is one which grew between two glacial eras. Being covered over by the second glacier, it is sometimes preserved for centuries.

The one near Juneau was found by Charles H. Flory of Juneau, a district forester, and M. L. Merritt of Juneau, an assistant forester.

Fruit Testing Co-operatives

Will Hold Annual Session at State Experiment Station This Month—How the State Association Works For Benefit of Members.

The annual meeting of the New York State Fruit Testing Cooperative Association will be held Thursday, September 16, at the State Experiment Station at Geneva, according to word sent out by H. L. King, manager of the association. In addition to transacting general business, the new varieties of fruit developed recently by the station fruit breeders, as well as several varieties of outstanding merit which have been under trial on the station grounds, will be submitted to the members of the association for their examination. Of particular note will be two or three new raspberries of special promise.

The New York State Fruit Testing Association, one of the most successful cooperative enterprises in the country, was originated for the sole purpose of testing out under a wide range of soil and climatic conditions the new varieties of fruit originated by the fruit breeders at the State Experiment Station and believed by them to be worthy of further trial by fruit growers, says Mr. King. The membership of the association now extends into many states and Canada.

With headquarters at Geneva, the association propagates stock of the new varieties coming from the station specialists or of existing varieties which the specialists believe should be more widely grown and distributes this to its members at a nominal cost. As the members report on the behavior of a given sort under their soil and climatic conditions, it is possible for the fruit specialists to judge much more quickly of the merits of a new fruit than would be possible with many years of testing on the station grounds.

Four Hurt When Sedan Skids

About 8 o'clock this morning a large Packard sedan from out of the county skidded on the Kingston-Saugerties state road near the Fundy farm a short distance north of Schoentag's hotel, went through a fence and upset in a ditch. There was a man and his wife and two boys in the sedan which was considerably damaged and one of the boys had a slight cut on one arm. The others were somewhat bruised. The car was righted by men who came to the rescue and taken to the Schoentag garage by a wrecker from that place.

Housing, Travel, Eating, Clothing

Order of the World Today, According to the Number of Companies Incorporating in New York State—Entertainment Comes Fifth—Eight Incorporations in Ulster County.

Albany, Sept. 6.—First a place in which to live, then a means of getting about, third, one's stomach, and then something to slap on one's back, with entertainment next in order. Such seems to be the make up of the world today, or at least in New York state, if one is to judge from the number of companies incorporating to take care of these five things. In other words, the preponderance of companies incorporating engage in the real estate business, this being particularly true in and around New York city, where a second Florida boom appears to be in progress. Next in number come automobile companies, garages and the hundred and one things which become the bane or the blessing of the motorist's existence.

With a roof and a car provided, eating, being necessary, is taken care of by a large number of concerns incorporating as restaurants and eating places. And so it goes with plenty of motion picture theatres and companies and garment-making concerns receiving charters. All of this, of course, makes more work, puts money into circulation and the statement made by Florence E. S. Knapp, secretary of state, to the effect that 17,471 companies have incorporated in this state during the last eight months, as compared with 16,045 for a like period last year, indicates an era of good business.

In Ulster county, eight companies with a total capitalization of $100,000, incorporated during the months of July and August.

40 Killed In Theatre Fire

Limerick, Ireland, Sept. 6 (AP).—Forty persons are dead and ten seriously injured as a result of a fire which destroyed an improvised motion picture theatre in a wooden building at Dromcollogher, near here.

Most of the victims were young people. The film showing was being given in an upstairs hall. It is alleged that there was no protective screen around the projecting apparatus, and when this took fire it caused a partial blocking of the door, the only means of exit.

Many persons were trampled in the frenzied struggle to escape, while others were caught in the blazing hall and burned to death.

Dublin, Sept. 6 (AP).—Dispatches received here say forty-nine persons were burned to death, seven seriously injured and many others slightly hurt in the motion picture house tragedy at Dromcollogher.

Rosh Hashanah Occurs This Week

Festival Which Ushers in Jewish Holy Season Falls on Thursday and Friday—Source of Many Customs.

The Jewish holyday season begins somewhat earlier this year than other years. The first holy day is the New Year, or Rosh Hashanah, which occurs this year on the 9th of September, the New Year eve being on the evening of the 8th.

In the Jewish tradition the Rosh Hashanah marks the anniversary of the creation of the world, supposed to have taken place 5,687 years ago; hence the Jewish year beginning with this New Year's day will be known as the year 5687.

Rosh Hashanah or New Year is one of the festivals ordained in the Bible, Leviticus XXIII, 24, 25, where we read, "In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, shall ye have a Sabbath, a memorial of trumpets, and holy convocation. Ye shall do no servile work therein." As we note from the Biblical wording, the New Year's day is intended as a day of Memorial, or remembrance, when not only God calls to mind everything His children have done during the past year, to pass judgment on them according to their works, but when the children of God should remember their deeds and properly evaluate them. Also, according to the Biblical prescription, the Shofar or ram's horn or trumpet is solemnly sounded a number of times in the Jewish house of worship to arouse the conscience of the worshippers.

In order to prepare for the solemn holy season, the Orthodox Jew for some days before the New Year's day arises at earliest dawn and repairs to the synagogue where penitential prayers are intoned in a special mournful chant. This early morning service continues during the ten days immediately following the New Year's day until the day of Atonement.

The New Year's day is one of solemn joy and the greeting of the day "L'shanah tovah". A Happy New Year, is heard on all sides, in the homes and the synagogues. The festival is observed two days, the 9th and 10th of September, by the Orthodox Jew.
